Preserving What Is Valued Museums Conservation And First Nations:

Preserving what is Valued Miriam Clavir,2002 Written by a conservator at the U of British Columbia s Museum of Anthropology this text examines the complex issues surrounding the preservation of First Nations artifacts Drawing upon interviews with elders and other members of various First Nations groups Clavir presents their perspectives on cultural preservation She also discusses the science and ethics of museum conservation Black and white photographs of museum workers artists and First Nations people accompany the text Distributed by Raincoast Books Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Preserving what is valued Miriam Lisa Clavir,1997 Examines the values attached to preserving heritage objects from the perspectives of First Nations principally in British Columbia Canada and compares these with values held in museum conservation

Preserving What Is Valued Miriam Clavir,2012-03-01 Preserving What Is Valued explores the concept of preserving heritage It presents the conservation profession s code of ethics and discusses four significant contexts embedded in museum conservation practice science professionalization museum practice and the relationship between museums and First Nations peoples Museum practice regarding handling and preservation of objects has been largely taken as a given and it can be difficult to see how these activities are politicized Clavir argues that museum practices are historically grounded and represent values that are not necessarily held by the originators of the objects She first focuses on conservation and explains the principles and methods conservators practise She then discusses First Nations people s perspectives on preservation quoting extensively from interviews done throughout British Columbia and comparing the British Columbia situation with that in New Zealand In the face of cultural repatriation issues museums are attempting to become more culturally sensitive to the original owners of objects forming new understandings of the right ways of storage and handling of materials Miriam Clavir s work is important for museum professionals conservators those working with First Nations collections in auction houses and galleries as well as students of sociology and anthropology

The Routledge Companion to the Philosophy of Architectural Reconstruction Zoltán Somhegyi,Lisa Giombini,2024-05-30 This companion investigates the philosophical and theoretical foundations determining the conditions of possibility and the limits that make the conservation readaptation and transformation of past buildings legitimate operations As increasing ecological and economic challenges question opportunities for new construction the process of restoring transforming and readapting buildings for new or continued use is becoming an essential part of architectural practice At the same time the role of building conservation is changing from mere material preservation to being part of a broader strategy for social regeneration eco awareness and inclusive urban planning Chapters of this volume explore the complex set of considerations that inform decisions to merely preserve accurately restore or variously reuse a building They also look at the broader philosophical concerns such as ethical and aesthetic values combined with ideas of heritage history and collective identity Case studies on reconstruction after war gentrification the restoration of ancient edifices reconstruction following the effects of climate change and the use of technology solutions among many others make this a timely and urgent volume Adopting a broad transcultural perspective with contributions from five continents the volume combines theoretical approaches with more practical case study based investigations and will be of great interest to upper level students and academics working in the fields of architecture conservation urban design aesthetics and heritage management

Conservation, Identity and Ownership in Indigenous Archaeology Bill Sillar, Cressida Fforde, 2005 This special issue of Public Archaeology journal explores indigenous involvement in archaeological the wide range of areas where archaeological activities have implications for indigenous concerns This publication addresses key concepts in the ongoing debate over access classification and use of ancient materials This publication includes contributions from a global mix of expert authors combining archaeologists and anthropologists with researchers and representatives of indigenous cultures Selected contributions stem from research seminars which took place near the end of the United Nations Decade for Indigenous People 1995 2004

Protection of First Nations Cultural Heritage Catherine Bell, Robert Paterson, 2009-05-01 Indigenous peoples around the world are seeking greater control over tangible and intangible cultural heritage In Canada issues concerning repatriation and trade of material culture heritage site protection treatment of ancestral remains and control over intangible heritage are governed by a complex legal and policy environment This volume looks at the key features of Canadian US and international law influencing indigenous cultural heritage in Canada Legal and extralegal avenues for reform are examined and opportunities and limits of existing frameworks are discussed Is a radical shift in legal and political relations necessary for First Nations concerns to be meaningfully addressed

Education, Values and Ethics in International Heritage Jeanette Atkinson, 2016-04-29 The changing and evolving relationship between museums and communities Indigenous ethnic and marginalized has been a primary point of discussion in the heritage sector in recent years Questions of official and unofficial heritage whose artefacts to collect and exhibit and why have informed and influenced museum practice Developing from this a key issue is whether it is possible to raise awareness of differing cultural perspectives values and beliefs and incorporate this into the education and training of heritage professionals with the aim of making cultural awareness an integrated and sustainable core part of future heritage training and practice This book discusses perceptions of values and ethics authenticity and significance and documents the historical heritage and education context in North America Scandinavia and the United Kingdom with a particular emphasis on Aotearoa New Zealand The author explores whether it is possible to learn respect for differing cultural perspectives through the undertaking of educational programmes identifies various approaches that could complement the development of students and professionals in the cultural heritage and preservation sectors and offers a means of actively engaging with cultural and professional values through a Taxonomy for Respecting Heritage and Values

First Nations Cultural Heritage and Law Catherine Bell, Val Napoleon, 2009-01-01 First Nations Cultural Heritage and Law explores First Nations perspectives on cultural heritage and issues of reform within and beyond Western law

Written in collaboration with First Nation partners it contains seven case studies featuring indigenous concepts legal orders and encounters with legislation and negotiations a national review essay three chapters reflecting on major themes and a self reflective critique on the challenges of collaborative and intercultural research Although the volume draws on specific First Nation experiences it covers a wide range of topics of concern to Inuit Metis and other indigenous peoples Dictionary of Museology François Mairesse,2023-04-05 The internationally focused Dictionary of Museology reflects the diversity of cultural and disciplinary approaches to theory and practice in the museum field today The museum world is changing rapidly and the characteristics and social roles of the world s approximately 100 000 existing museums are constantly evolving In addition to their traditional functions of preservation research and communication museums are increasingly addressing issues related to social inclusion human rights sustainable development and finances all of which are explored in this dictionary Drawing on the support of an international editorial committee including influential figures from the US Canada Brazil Japan Spain Germany France and the UK this collaborative work produced by over 100 researchers from around the world provides an overview of this unique field by defining over 1 000 terms relating to museology The Dictionary of Museology is intended for a broad spectrum of museum professionals academics researchers and students The book will be especially useful to those working with international partners since a common lexicon that conveys the complex reality of current social and cultural values is particularly vital for those working across borders International Indigenous Librarians' Forum III David Ongley,2005 Stones and Lives Helen Frowe,Derek Matravers,2024-06-18 The fate of heritage in war has attracted considerable attention in recent years due in no small part to ISIS s campaign of destruction across the Middle East and in 2012 the International Criminal Court s first prosecution of heritage destruction as a war crime Regular armed forces have been criticised for both failing to protect and damaging heritage sites In response heritage organisations urge the better implementation of existing international laws on heritage protection in war This book argues that any such law or policy will require combatants to choose between safeguarding heritage and safeguarding other goods including human life It thus challenges the view repeatedly expressed by heritage professionals that the choice between protecting heritage and protecting lives is a false dichotomy Existing international law not only implies such choices but also more worryingly gives no indication of how they should be resolved Drawing on contemporary work on the ethics of war this book develops an account of the permissible protection of heritage in war It argues that heritage is not morally special rather heritage is one of many goods that contribute to individuals lives going well and that we routinely trade off against each other By drawing on these more familiar dilemmas we can make progress on how to balance the protection of heritage against risks to human life Amongst other things the book considers the different ways in which heritage might contribute to individual flourishing the role of consent in justifying the imposition of risk on combatants and civilians the permissibility of forcefully defending heritage and what if anything could compensate for the loss of heritage in war The Journal of the

Royal Anthropological Institute, 2003 Articles on all aspects of anthropology DECOLONIZING CONSERVATION Dean Sully, 2007 This book challenges the commodification of sacred objects and places by western conservation thought by examining conservation activities at Maori marae meeting houses located in the US Germany and England contrasted with changes in marae conservation in New Zealand University of British Columbia Law Review University of British Columbia, 2014 Journal of the American Institute for Conservation American Institute for Conservation of Historic and Artistic Works, 2007 Indigenous Nations Studies Journal, 2003 Conservation of Living Religious Heritage Herb Stovel, Nicholas Stanley-Price, R. G. Killick, 2005 International Workshop on Flexible Materials in Asian Collections, Exchange of Approaches to Conservation, Presentation, and Use, 2003 Taking Archaeology Out of Heritage Emma Waterton, Laurajane Smith, 2009 Archaeology has on the whole tended to dominate the development of public policies and practices applicable to what is often referred to as heritage This book aims to examine the conflation of heritage with archaeology that has occurred as a result To do so it asks whether archaeology can usefully contribute to critical understandings of heritage which the volume contends must consider heritage both in terms of what it is and the cultural social and political work it does in contemporary societies Archaeologists have been very successful in protecting what they perceive to be their database a success that owes much to the development and maintenance of a suite of heritage management practices that work to legitimize their privileged access to and control of that database However is archaeological data actually heritage Moreover does archaeological knowledge offer a meaningful reflection of the historic environment in terms of the uses values and associations it carries for the various and different communities or publics that engage with that environment heritage The volume brings together academic and field archaeologists academics from heritage studies and community activists from the UK and Europe more generally to debate these issues Acadiensis, 2003
