Human Comfort and Security of Information Systems

Kadamula Varghese, Silvia Pfleger, 2012-12-06 The Commission of the European Union through its Fourth Framework R D programme is committed to the development of the Information Society There is no doubt that there will be many radical changes in all aspects of society caused by the far reaching impact of continuing advances in information and communication technologies Many of these changes cannot be predicted but that uncertainty must not stop us from moving forward The challenge is to ensure that these technologies are put to use in the most beneficial manner taking fully into account the rich cultural and linguistic backgrounds within the peoples of Europe We have a duty to ensure that the ultimate end users of the technology are involved in the development and application of that technology to help shape its use Without this active involvement designers will not understand the individual and organisational requirements of the users and the users will not understand the impact and applicability of the new technology Failure on either account will lead to a sense of resentment on the part of the users and a lost opportunity to improve the quality of human life The work sponsored by the Human Comfort Security sub domain of the ESPRIT programme has a central part to play in the creation of the Information Society lying as it does at the interface between the technology and the user

Local Area Network Interconnection

Raif O. Onvural, Arne Nilsson, 2012-12-06 There are many exciting trends and developments in the communications industry several of which are related to advances in fast packet switching multi media services asynchronous transfer mode ATM and high speed protocols It seems fair to say that the face of networking has been rapidly changing and the distinction between LANs MANs and WANs is becoming more and more blurred It is commonly believed in the industry that ATM represents the next generation in networking The adoption of ATM standards by the research and development community as a unifying technology for communications that scales from local to wide area has been met with great enthusiasm from the business community and end users Reflecting these trends the technical program of the First International Conference on LAN Interconnection consists of papers addressing a wide range of technical challenges and state of the art reviews We are fortunate to have assembled a strong program committee expert speakers and panelists We would like to thank Professor Schwartz for his keynote speech We would like to thank Professor Yannis Viniotis and his students for the preparation of the index We gratefully acknowledge the generous financial support of Dr Jon Fjeld Mr Rick McGee and Mr David Witt all of IBM Research Triangle Park We also would like to thank Ms Mary Safford our editor and Mr John Matzka both at Plenum Press for the publication of the proceedings Euroabstracts ,1995 Object-oriented Network Protocols Stefan Boecking,2000 This book provides a foundation for the object oriented design and implementation of modular composable reusable and or extendable network communication protocols Programmers will then be able to implement protocols and services by composing rather than programming them from a set of already specified implemented and tested elementary protocol objects according to the application needs and the network environment The book is organised in three parts fundamentals of networks and applications reference framework for modular communication systems and case studies of system designs and implementations High Performance Networking, IV A.
