Effect of Mechanical and Physical Properties on Fabric Hand H Behery,2005-10-31 It is a consumer s instinct to use the sense of touch when choosing a garment to describe and assess the fabric quality and its suitability for a specific end use The way that the fabric feels is described as its handle or fabric hand Fabric hand can be evaluated by mechanical or electronic devices and by human judges using psychophysical or psychological techniques Effect of mechanical and physical properties on fabric hand thoroughly explores the techniques and issues involved in this difficult subject It begins by looking at the concepts of fabric hand with chapters on the developments in hand measurement the application of statistical methods and the differences in fabric hand between different cultures The second part is devoted to the different effects fiber yarn and fabric can have on fabric hand The effect of factors including fiber yarn and woven fabrics are all outlined in separate chapters Finally the third section describes the effect that processing has on fabric hand This includes processes such as wet processing and chemical finishing mechanical finishing and refurbishing Finally two important appendices are included for reference Appendix A is from the Hand Evaluation and Standardization Committee and outlines the Kawabata system for standardization and analysis of hand evaluation Appendix B describes the SiroFAST system of fabric assurance by simple testing developed by CSIRO Australia With an international panel of distinguished contributors Effect of mechanical and physical properties on fabric hand provides comprehensive coverage on the subject It will be an essential work for those researching and working in apparel and fashion design textile selection fabric designers and developers manufacturers and those interested in fabric dyeing and finishing Essential reading for all those working in apparel and fashion design textile selection fabric design and development and fabric manufacturers Covers statistical methods in evaluating hand and a comparison of hand evaluation in different cultures Looks at the effect processing has on fabric hand Sensory Robotics for the Handling of Limp Materials Paul M. Taylor,2012-12-06 Limp materials are used in many economically impo tant industries such as garment manufacture shoe manufacture aerospace composites and automobiles seats and trim The use of sensors is essential for reliable robotic handling of these materials which are often based on naturally occurring substances such as cotton and leather The materials are limp and have non homogeneous mechanical properties which are often impossible to predict accurately The applications are very demanding for vision and tactile sensing and signal processing adaptive control systems planning and systems integration This book comprises the collection of papers presented at the NATO Advanced Research Workshop on Sensory Robotics for the Handling of Limp Materials held in October 1988 at II Ciocco Tuscany Italy The aim of the workshop was to examine the state of the art and determine what research is needed to provide the theoretical and technological tools for the successful application of sensory robotics to the handling of limp materials The meeting also acted as the first ever forum for the interchange of knowledge between applications driven researchers and those researching into the provision of fundamental tools The participants were drawn from academia 20 industry 5 and other non university research organisations 5
