We Are Playing Football Will Rollason,2010-10-12 Sport is an important part of the lives of rural Papua New Guineans and a significant connection to global imaginaries for economically marginal villagers Such grassroots sport however is rarely studied and has never previously been the subject of an ethnographic monograph This book represents a pioneering study of the history and effects of grassroots sport in Papua New Guinea We Are Playing Football explores Panapompom people s attempts to recreate the international game and the social and subjective effects of this effort From a raw ethnographic starting point the book moves through historical and interpretive materials exploring the motives methods and results of Panapompom people s work to recreate global images of football and to turn them to their own political ends As the argument proceeds we see how playing football implicates Panapompom people in circuits of domination power and humiliation that tether them to colonial modes of control and derogatory racist identities which they themselves reproduce in their communities From its effects on the most intimate self understanding through the embodied experience of playing football to the details of colonial history and the values and ideas underpinning community life this book offers an original and challenging assessment of what it means to be globalised It charts the new outlooks and imaginaries the disruptions failures and disappointments and above all the vital synergies between different people that define the global situation of Panapompom people
