The Curse Karen Houppert, 2000-05-24 A provocative look at the way our culture deals with menstruation The Curse examines the culture of concealment that surrounds menstruation and the devastating impact such secrecy has on women s physical and psychological health Karen Houppert combines reporting on the potential safety problems of sanitary products such as dioxin laced tampons with an analysis of the way ads movies young adult novels and women s magazines foster a menstrual etiquette that leaves women more likely to tell their male colleagues about an affair than brazenly carry an unopened tampon down the hall to the bathroom From the very beginning industry generated instructional films sketch out the parameters of acceptable behavior and teach young girls that bleeding is naughty irrepressible evidence of sexuality In the process confident girls learn to be self conscious teens And the secrecy has even broader implications Houppert argues that industry ad campaigns have effectively stymied consumer debate research and safety monitoring of the sanitary protection industry By telling girls and women how to think and talk about menstruation the mostly male dominated media have set a tone that shapes women s experiences for them defining what they are allowed to feel about their periods their bodies and their sexuality

New Blood Chris Bobel, 2010-05-05 New Blood offers a fresh interdisciplinary look at feminism in flux For over three decades menstrual activists have questioned the safety and necessity of feminine care products while contesting menstruation as a deeply entrenched taboo Chris Bobel shows how a little known yet enduring force in the feminist health environmental and consumer rights movements lays bare tensions between second and third wave feminisms and reveals a complicated story of continuity and change within the women s movement Through her critical ethnographic lens Bobel focuses on debates central to feminist thought including the utility of the category gender and challenges to building an inclusive feminist movement Filled with personal narratives playful visuals and original humor New Blood reveals middle aged progressives communing in Red Tents urban punks and artists culture jamming commercial menstrual products in their zines and sketch comedy queer anarchists practicing DIY health care African American health educators espousing holistic womb health and hopeful mothers refusing to pass on the shame to their pubescent daughters With verve and conviction Bobel illuminates today s feminism on the ground indisputably vibrant contentious and ever dynamic
