

THE 4 MAJOR PERSPECTIVES OF PSYCHOLOGY (social problems)

- 1. Functionalist : society is like the human body, every organ has a function to keep it working
 - Dysfunctions can be a result of anomie - a state of unawareness where social rules are not well understood
- 2. Conflict : norms in society that exist because they serve those with wealth and or power
 - Social problems arise because society is held together through coercion of the powerless by the powerful, and social problems are the result of exploration or competition
- 3. Feminist : many of societies problems can be traced to the norms established through patriarchy
 - Where society is dominated by men
- 4. Symbolic interaction : the subjective reality of social problems differs based on our understanding of language, words, and symbols
 - All norms are created and negotiated through social interaction
 - More focused on how problems are communicated rather than how they actually affect people
