Race To The Sea:

Race to the Sea Dr. Dayton Lee Alverson, 2008-11-03 Dr Alverson's story covers his early life experiences through high school World War II his education and his involvement in State Federal and International fisheries science and management His career and story cover the period 1950 2000 during which world fisheries would explode from small boat coastal activities to distant water fleets of large vessels World catches would increase over 300% after WWII and most of the world's oceans and seas would be heavily exploited Overfishing and impacts on coastal fisheries would lead the world community to seek new laws for the harvest of ocean fisheries and result in unilateral extension of national jurisdictions over ocean space The growth of environmental movement in the later half of the 20th century would lead to conflicts between fishing and conservation groups resulting in changes in national and international fish policies The book tracks many of these developments and Dr Alverson's personal involvements and experiences during the traumatic period of world fishery expansion During the course of his life marine fisheries resource would be seen as the great source of world protein to feed the world's hungry and later as overfished and polluted

Telling Our Way to the Sea Aaron Hirsh, 2013-08-06 A luminous and revelatory journey into the science of life and the depths of the human experience By turns epic and intimate Telling Our Way to the Sea is both a staggering revelation of unraveling ecosystems and a profound meditation on our changing relationships with nature and with one another When the biologists Aaron Hirsh and Veronica Volny along with their friend Graham Burnett a historian of science lead twelve college students to a remote fishing village on the Sea of Cortez they come upon a bay of dazzling beauty and richness But as the group pursues various threads of investigation ecological and evolutionary studies of the sea the desert and their various species of animals and plants the stories of local villagers the journals of conquistadors and explorers they recognize that the bay spectacular and pristine though it seems is but a ghost of what it once was Life in the Sea of Cortez they realize has been reshaped by complex human ideas and decisions the laws and economics of fishing property and water the dreams of developers and the fantasies of tourists seeking the wild even efforts to retrieve species from the brink of extinction all of which have caused dramatic upheavals in the ecosystem It is a painful realization but the students discover a way forward After weathering a hurricane and encountering a rare whale in its wake they come to see that the bay's best chance of recovery may in fact reside in our own human stories which can weave a compelling memory of the place Glimpsing the intricate and ever shifting web of human connections with the Sea of Cortez the students comprehend anew their own place in the natural world suspended between past and future teetering between abundance and loss The redemption in their difficult realization is that as they find their places in a profoundly altered environment they also recognize their roles in the path ahead and ultimately come to see one another and themselves in a new light In Telling Our Way to the Sea Hirsh's voice resounds with compassionate humanity capturing the complex beauty of both the marine world he explores and the people he explores it with vibrantly alive with sensitivity and nuance Telling
