More Song Games Kate F. Bremner, 1925 Children's Games in the New Media Age Chris Richards, Andrew Burn, 2016-05-23 The result of a unique research project exploring the relationship between children's vernacular play cultures and their media based play this collection challenges two popular misconceptions about children's play that it is depleted or even dying out and that it is threatened by contemporary media such as television and computer games A key element in the research was the digitization and analysis of Iona and Peter Opie's sound recordings of children's playground and street games from the 1970s and 1980s This framed and enabled the research team's studies both of the Opies' documents of mid twentieth century play culture and through a two year ethnographic study of play and games in two primary school playgrounds contemporary children's play cultures In addition the research included the use of a prototype computer game to capture playground games and the making of a documentary film Drawing on this extraordinary data set the volume poses three questions What do these hitherto unseen sources reveal about the games songs and rhymes the Opies and others collected in the mid twentieth century What has happened to these vernacular forms How are the forms of vernacular play that are transmitted in playgrounds homes and streets transfigured in the new media age In addressing these questions the contributors reflect on the changing face of childhood in the twenty first century in relation to questions of gender and power and with attention to the children's own participation in producing the ethnographic record of their lives

Human-in-the-Loop Robot Control and Learning Luka Peternel, Jan Babič, Erhan Oztop, Tetsunari Inamura, Dingguo Zhang, 2020-01-22 In the past years there has been considerable effort to move robots from industrial environments to our daily lives where they can collaborate and interact with humans to improve our life quality One of the key challenges in this direction is to make a suitable robot control system that can adapt to humans and interactively learn from humans to facilitate the efficient and safe co existence of the two The applications of such robotic systems include service robotics and physical human robot collaboration assistive and rehabilitation robotics semi autonomous cars etc To achieve the goal of integrating robotic systems into these applications several important research directions must be explored One such direction is the study of skill transfer where a human operator's skilled executions are used to obtain an autonomous controller Another important direction is shared control where a robotic controller and humans control the same body tool mechanism car etc Shared control in turn invokes very rich research questions such as co adaptation between the human and the robot where the two agents can benefit from each other's skills or must adapt to each other's behavior to achieve effective cooperative task executions The aim of this Research Topic is to help bridge the gap between the state of the art and above mentioned goals through novel multidisciplinary approaches in human in the loop robot control and learning
