Religious Diversity in Muslim-majority States in Southeast Asia Bernhard Platzdasch,2014-11-07 e This book fills a gap in authoritative analyses of the causes of inter religious conflict and the practice of religious toleration The rise of more overt expressions of Islamic piety and greater bureaucratization of Islam in both Indonesia and Malaysia over several decades have tested the e live and let livee philosophy that used to characterize religious expression in these nations The analyses in each chapter break new ground with contextualized studies of particular and recent incidents of conflict or harassment in a variety of areas from urban centres to more remote and even complex locations As these studies show legislation stands or falls on the ability and determination of local authorities to enforce it This volume is essential reading for understanding the dynamics of state religious interaction in Muslim majority nations and the crucial role civil society organizations play in negotiating interfaith toleration e Emeritus Professor Virginia Hooker FAHA Department of Political Social Change College of Asia the Pacific The Australian National University

Contesting the Master Narrative Jeffrey Cox,Shelton Stromquist,1998 Social historians today are calling into question the persuasiveness of the master narratives that have dominated our stories about the past Motivated now by personal and professional commitments to solving problems by telling stories not by epistemological and ontological certitude social historians are constructing alternative narratives relevant to an expanded more inclusive audience The essays in this thoughtful volume reflect an explicit self consciousness about historians choices of narrative strategies a new skepticism of the rhetorical strategies embedded in all scholarly arguments and a recognition that every historian has a point of view Critically examining past master narratives in light of emerging alternatives these essayists ask us to reevaluate the stories we tell the narrative traditions within which they are situated and the audiences they are designed to persuade The first essays explore the gendered character of social history rhetoric by exposing alternative feminist traditions of social scientific and social historical writing The second section focuses on alternative narrative traditions of historical writing in non European contexts specifically India Japan and China And the third group spotlights the rhetorical uses of synthesis in the writings of social historians The essays feature the range of narrative possibilities available to historians who have become self critical about the pervasive use of unexamined master narratives they show how limited that tradition can be compared with the diverse alternatives derived from for example gendered traditions of Latin American travel writers of the nineteenth century Victorian women s historical writing or the lively subaltern tradition in Indian social history Together they argue not for the abandonment of historical materialism or the elimination of all master narratives but for the reinvigoration of social history through the use of new and more persuasive arguments based on alternative narratives

American Jewish History, 1990 American Pluralist Democracy Darryl Baskin, 1971 The Development of an American Culture Stanley Coben, Lorman Ratner, 1970 Some of the outstanding scholars in the field of American culture have contributed to this new collection of original essays Each chapter represents the author s scholarly approach to a particular problem in American cultural history yet the essays as a whole achieve unity through their chronological order and common themes Although not a complete history of American culture this book is noteworthy for the important trends in American culture that it discusses The editors Coben and Ratner explain this significance in their introduction to the essays Our authors have not attempted to provide a comprehensive survey of the national culture or cultures in the period They have tried rather to explore periods during which important aspects of American culture became significant or at least obvious concentrating usually on the groups most involved in these changes Beginning with a discussion of the European outposts of the mid seventeenth century the essayists go on to examine popular symbols connected with the American revolution the reforms instituted during the early 19th century the political speeches and essays of 1820 1850 the Southern subcultures of the mid nineteenth century the progressive spirit of the early twentieth century the intellectual crisis of the 1920 s the cultural mood of acquiescence in the 1930 s and finally the state of culture in contemporary America Publisher
