humaines et sociales ainsi que des disciplines artistiques y sont agencées de façon à entrer en dialogue. L'objectif est d'explorer la pensée européenne et de contribuer ainsi à la laboration d'une politique culturelle de l'Europe et de chercheurs et d'artistes français et allemands sont sollicités des auteurs venant de tous les pays européens. Dans cette démarche la connaissance n'est pas conçue comme un bien cumulable mais plutôt comme un chantier permanent. La revue accueille les différents modes de travail scientifiques et artistiques non pas malgré mais en raison de leur diversité et encourage ses auteurs à inventer des modes d'expression qui assument ouvertement leur nature réflexive, essayiste et discursive. Mettre à l'épreuve ce qui pourrait être une démarche européenne de la pensée tel est l'objectif des artistes et chercheurs en sciences humaines et sociales qui discutent ici du thème donnant son titre la première livraison : distanciation et compréhension.

How Painting Happens (and why it matters) Martin Gayford, 2024-09-26. Painting is an almost inconceivably ancient activity that remains vigorously alive in the twenty-first century. Every successful painting creates a new world which we inhabit for as long as we care to look at it. Paintings can incorporate profound ideas and paradoxes that can be grasped without words. For those who dedicate themselves to it, the art of painting can become an all-consuming lifelong obsession. It is a subject on which painters themselves are often the most incisive commentators. Martin Gayford's riveting and richly illustrated book deftly brings together numerous artists' voices past and present. It draws on a trove of conversations conducted over more than three decades with artists including Frank Auerbach, Gillian Ayres, Frank Bowling, Cecily Brown, Peter Doig, Lucian Freud, Katharina Fritsch, David Hockney, Claudette Johnson, Lee Ufan, Paula Rego, Gerhard Richter, Bridget Riley, Jenny Saville, Frank Stella, Luc Tuymans, Zeng Fanzhi and many more. Here too is Vincent van Gogh on Rembrandt, John Constable on Titian, Francis Bacon on Velázquez, R. B. Kitaj on Cézanne and Jean-Michel Basquiat on Picasso. We hear the personal reflections of these artists on their chosen medium, how and why they paint, how they came to the practice, the influence of fellow painters, and how they find creative sustenance and inspiration in their art. How Painting Happens crosses the centuries to give us a wealth of insights into the endlessly compelling phenomenon of painters and painting.

Photography After Capitalism Ben Burbridge, 2020-12-15. A polemical analysis of the politics and economics of today's vernacular photographic cultures. In Photography After Capitalism, Benedict Burbridge makes the case for a radically expanded conception of photography encompassing the types of labor too often obscured by black-boxed technologies, slick platform interfaces, and the compulsion to display lives to others. His lively and polemical analysis of today's vernacular photographic cultures shines new light on the hidden work of smartphone assembly teams, digital content moderators, Street View car drivers, Google Scan Ops, low-paid gallery interns, homeless participant photographers, and the photo-sharing masses. Bringing together cultural criticism, social history, and political philosophy, Burbridge examines how representations of our photographic lives in advertising, journalism, scholarship, and particularly contemporary art shape a sense of what photography is and the social relations that comprise it More precisely he focuses on how different critical and creative strategies from the appropriation of social media imagery to performative traversals of the network from documentaries about secretive manual labor to science fiction fantasies of future sabotage affect our understanding of photography s interactions with political and economic systems Drawing insight and inspiration from recent analyses of digital labour community economies and post capitalism Burbridge harnesses the ubiquity of photography to cognitively map contemporary capitalism in search of its weak spots and levers sites of resistance and opportunities to build better worlds Diversity and Design Beth Tauke, Korydon Smith, Charles Davis, 2015-08-27 Diversity and Design explores how design whether of products buildings landscapes cities media or systems affects diverse members of society Fifteen case studies in television marketing product design architecture film video games and more illustrate the profound though often hidden consequences design decisions and processes have on the total human experience The book not only investigates how gender race class age disability and other factors influence the ways designers think but also emphasizes the importance of understanding increasingly diverse cultures and thus averting design that leads to discrimination isolation and segregation With over 140 full color illustrations chapter summaries discussion questions and exercises Diversity and Design is a valuable tool to help you understand the importance of designing for all
