

What is the motivation?

It is the interest of the students for their own learning or activities that lead to it. Interest may acquire, maintain or increase depending on intrinsic and extrinsic elements. It must be distinguished from what traditionally has been called in the classroom motivation, which is just what the teacher does to motivate students.

Intrinsic: It consists of personal interests, own abilities, challenges, need no punishments or incentives, it compensates activity itself.

Extrinsic: It consists of interest due to external rewards or benefits that will be achieved when performing a task.
