Psychology Personal Statement

Example:

From an early age I have been intrigued by the human mind and how it works. This interest has been enhanced through my study of psychology.

Although I have only studied this subject for a relatively short period of time, I have enjoyed the variety the A-level course provides, and I feel I have had a sample of different fields of this subject.

I have particularly enjoyed studying comparative psychology because I am interested in how the human mind can be explained in evolutionary terms and how we can be compared to non-human animals.

I have always enjoyed mathematics, both learning and application. I have relished the course I have taken at college as it has a variety of areas and the opportunity to study different branches. I have particularly enjoyed areas of pure mathematics that I have covered since commencing A-levels and I have developed my enthusiasm for algebra by applying it to different problems.

I also feel that my statistical background will be advantageous to my psychology work. I have enhanced my assessment and evaluation skills through my A-level in Religious Studies, particularly the modules on philosophy and ethics. I feel that my study into ethics is advantageous when applied to the highly problematic field of psychological research.

My logical approach was also demonstrated with my AS-level in economics which gave me the opportunity to interpret data and the effect different factors have on a situation.

I demonstrated my people skills when I undertook work experience at a local special needs school after I had completed my GCSEs.

This week gave me the opportunity to assist teachers and carers with large groups of children of different ages and abilities. This included helping heavily disabled children with Physical Education lessons, autistic children with art classes and aiding pupils with severe epilepsy to do basic numeracy and literacy.

I also helped a group of teenagers, older than myself with a range of physical and learning disabilities, to do basic cookery. I found this week very rewarding, although it was both mentally and physically taxing as children had to be supervised, and often assisted, always.

My part-time job at a doctor's surgery has made me more a responsible individual as I deal with patient confidentiality. I have also become more confident and gained a great deal of common sense as I deal with, and reassure, members of the public.

In my free time I enjoy participating in a variety of different activities. I am a member of a local gym which I attend several times a week. I am a keen horse-rider, I regularly go on skiing holidays and I have recently started Salsa dancing. I have also participated in Bronze and Silver Duke of Edinburgh Awards and hope to start my Gold Award.

I particularly enjoy the planning and undertaking of expeditions as they are physically challenging and encourage teamwork. I also enjoyed the "service" required for the awards.

For my bronze award I helped at a local Brownie Pack and this included helping to prepare activities and going away on a 'Pack Holiday' residential weekend with the girls.

I was able to do this through my links with Guiding. I was a member of this organisation for ten years and was presented with my Baden Powell Award, the highest achievement that could be gained by a Guide.

I am a keen musician and I enjoy the clarinet, gaining Grade 2 with merit 5 years ago before focussing on pieces that I enjoyed including those in a Jazz-style in 'the Peter Brown Band', and I have been a member of several choirs, the highlight being performing Honegger's Joan d'Arc in the BBC Proms in the Albert Hall as a member of the Royal Liverpool Philharmonic Youth Choir.

As a member I also sang in the Royal Liverpool Philharmonic Hall, the Liverpool Cathedral and on "Songs of Praise". I am an active church member and I regularly volunteer at fund-raising efforts.

At college I am a charity representative. This position of responsibility involves fund-raising and selecting charities that the college supports, a role which I take seriously and enjoy doing.

For my silver Duke of Edinburgh award, I volunteered at my local Oxfam shop for six months. I enjoyed meeting members of the public and working with other volunteers to raise money. I have also taken part in my church fund-raisers and I am currently training for the Liverpool Ladies 10km Run next year in aid of a local hospice.

I am a logical thinker and this, combined with my enthusiasm for the human mind, leads towards a future in a scientific field of psychology. The combination of my interests logically suggests a career

Psychology John C. Ruch, 1984      Advances in Psychological Science: Social, personal, and cultural aspects John G. Adair, David Bélanger, Kenneth L. Dion, Michel Sabourin, 1998 The volumes Advances in Psychological Science are the most timely reviews for a person who wants an up to date state of the art description of selected topics in psychology These volumes will be useful for the graduate student to get a perspective on the latest developments in psychology today The chapters are written in a non technical manner i e not for the specialist but for the educated psychologist who wishes to see developments across the spectrum of psychology They may be used for teaching or by experts who wish an overview of recent advances in their science The chapters uniquely reflect the international or global character of psychology both in the authors selected to write them and in their coverage of research from around the world Volume 1 contains original contributions to the social personal and cultural aspects of the discipline      Psychology: Personal and Essential Henry C. Sheppard, 1920      Psychology in Personal Selling Adolph Judah Snow, 1926      Personal Construct Psychology in Clinical Practice David A. Winter, 1994 Provides a wide ranging and detailed review of the clinical applications of personal construct theory Amply illustrated with case material it is the first such attempt to bring together findings from a widely scattered literature      Philosophical Dimensions of Personal Construct Psychology Bill Warren, 2002-09-11 This book traces the philosophical history of Personal Construct Psychology through the broad and complex tradition of phenomenology and thinkers such as Spinoza Hegel and Heidegger The author also gives credit to the influence of general creative and dramatic literature across a variety of cultures Specific issues addressed in depth include the position of Personal Construct Psychology with regard to philosophy of science determinism and free will concepts of mental illness and the implications for social and political philosophy      Psychology, Hypnotism, Personal Magnetism and Clairvoyance ... William Abner Barnes, 1898      International Handbook of Personal Construct Psychology Fay Fransella, 2003-09-12 Personal Construct Psychology PCP was devised by George Kelly in 1955 as a new method in psychotherapy Since then his techniques have been applied widely throughout psychology and beyond to include areas as diverse as nursing conflict resolution sociology and literary criticism This handbook brings together for the first time a wide range of theories research and practice that have grown out of Kelly s original concept It provides a reference on what has been done and insights into how further applications can be made within psychology and psychotherapy and also informs non psychologists and those unfamiliar with Kelly s techniques of its usefulness and applicability in other disciplines This is the only comprehensive reference on PCP available Kelly s work is seminal and widely known Emphasises practical application to a wide range of disciplines      Personality Structure and Human Interaction Harry Y. Guntrip, 2018-03-26 How has a theory of man as a social being to be formulated if we are to do justice to his individuality to the subtle ways in which his love and hate compete within his relations with others and to the anxieties and resistances he shows when he seeks to change himself To answer this question is the task which the author sets himself After assessing Freud s basic principles the author proceeds to make a uniquely comprehensive review of subsequent theoretical contributions to psychoanalysis with special emphasis on the work of Fairbairn and Melanie Klein From a background of philosophy theology and social studies the author went on to take a personal psychoanalysis and to become a full time psychotherapist and it is from this combination of wide knowledge and intensive work with people beset by conflicts in their relations with themselves and others that he evolves his views
