"Destined to Fail" Julia Eklund Koza, 2026-01-23 A little-known fact about the prominent US psychologist and educator Carl E. Seashore 1866-1949 is that he was deeply involved in the American eugenics movement He was among the US academics to support eugenics long before German Nazis embraced it A titan in a host of disciplines and a proponent of radical education reform Seashore used his positional power to promote a constellation of education reforms consistent with central precepts of eugenics Many of these reforms including tracking gifted and talented programs and high-stakes standardized testing were adopted and remain standard practice in the United States today He promulgated the idea that musical talent is biologically inheritable and he developed the first standardized tests of musical talent these tests were used by early twentieth-century researchers in their attempts to determine whether there are race differences in musical talent Seashore's ideas and work profoundly shaped music education's research trajectory as well as enduring commonsense beliefs about musical ability An intersectional analysis Destined to Fail focuses on the relationship between eugenics and Seashore's views on ability race and gender Koza concludes that Seashore promoted eugenics and its companion euthenics because he was a true believer She also discusses the longstanding silences surrounding Seashore's participation in eugenics As a diagnosis and critique of the present Destined to Fail identifies resemblances and connections between past and present that illustrate the continuing influence of eugenics and the systems of reasoning that made early twentieth century eugenics imaginable and seem reasonable on education discourse and practice today It maps out discursive citational and funding connections between eugenicists of the early twentieth century and contemporary White supremacists this mapping leads to some of Donald Trump's supporters and appointees

A Scrap Book George Saintsbury, 1922 The Story Lady's Book Georgene Faulkner, 1921 Nature Study in Elementary Schools Lucy Langdon Williams Wilson, 1898 Kindergarten Review, 1913 Index to Fairy Tales, Myths, and Legends Mary Huse Eastman, 1926 Teaching with Authority Edwin K. Broadhead, 1992-01-01 The Gospels of the NT are strategic narratives of proclamation The primary focus of these narratives is christological Miracle stories play a central role in this narrative process and in its resulting christological portrait Strategies of interpretation must be consciously shaped to highlight this narrative strategy and its christological focus The first three statements now seem self evident yet these conclusions were reached relatively late in the history of research The fourth contention lies at the center of recent methodological debate in Gospel studies This analysis will re evaluate the miracle traditions through a methodology designed to highlight the narrative identity and the christological focus of the Gospel of Mark The primary goal of this analysis is reconsideration of the role played by miracle stories in the characterization of Jesus As a secondary goal this analysis will address the ongoing question of which methodological approaches best contribute to the aims of NT studies
