Serial Rings:

Serial Rings G. Puninski, 2012-12-06 The main theme in classical ring theory is the structure theory of rings of a particular kind For example no one text book in ring theory could miss the Wedderburn Artin theorem which says that a ring  $R$  is semisimple Artinian iff  $R$  is isomorphic to a finite direct sum of full matrix rings over skew fields This is an example of a finiteness condition which at least historically has dominated in ring theory If we would like to consider a requirement of a lattice theoretical type other than being Artinian or Noetherian the most natural is uni seriality Here a module  $M$  is called uni serial if its lattice of submodules is a chain and a ring  $R$  is uni serial if both  $R$  and  $R$  are uni serial modules The class of uni serial rings includes commutative valuation rings and closed under homomorphic images But it is not closed under direct sums nor with respect to Morita equivalence a matrix ring over a uni serial ring is not uni serial There is a class of rings which is very close to uni serial but closed under the constructions just mentioned serial rings A ring  $R$  is called serial if  $R$  and  $R$  is a direct sum necessarily finite of uni serial modules Amongst others this class includes triangular matrix rings over a skew field Also if  $F$  is a finite field of characteristic  $p$  and  $G$  is a finite group with a cyclic normal  $p$  Sylow subgroup then the group ring  $FG$  is serial

Algebras, Rings and Modules Michiel Hazewinkel, Nadiya Gubareni, V.V. Kirichenko, 2004-10-01

Associative rings and algebras are very interesting algebraic structures In a strict sense the theory of algebras in particular noncommutative algebras originated from a single example namely the quaternions created by Sir William R Hamilton in 1843 This was the first example of a noncommutative numbers system During the next forty years mathematicians introduced other examples of noncommutative algebras began to bring some order into them and to single out certain types of algebras for special attention Thus low dimensional algebras division algebras and commutative algebras were classified and characterized The first complete results in the structure theory of associative algebras over the real and complex fields were obtained by T Molien E Cartan and G Frobenius Modern ring theory began when J H Wedderburn proved his celebrated classification theorem for finite dimensional semisimple algebras over arbitrary fields Twenty years later E Artin proved a structure theorem for rings satisfying both the ascending and descending chain condition which generalized Wedderburn structure theorem The Wedderburn Artin theorem has since become a cornerstone of noncommutative ring theory The purpose of this book is to introduce the subject of the structure theory of associative rings This book is addressed to a reader who wishes to learn this topic from the beginning to research level We have tried to write a self contained book which is intended to be a modern textbook on the structure theory of associative rings and related structures and will be accessible for independent study
