

Tips for Encouraging Speech and Language Development

Use a high-pitched, sing-song voice. This helps to get & keep your baby's attention while you talk.

Play with sounds. Get silly while playing & make sounds that connect with what your child is doing.

Use facial expressions and gestures to communicate the meaning of words.

Describe your actions as you dress, feed, and bathe your child. Pairing the same words with routine activities is a great way to develop language.

Encourage two-way communication. When your child communicates with you using sounds, words, or gestures, be sure to respond & take turns in "conversation."

Read with your child. "Reading" can simply mean describing pictures without following the written words. Choose books with large, colorful pictures, and encourage your child to point to and name familiar objects.

Build on the words your child already knows to help expand their vocabulary. For example, if your child says "dog", you could say "Yes, that's a big dog."

Reward your child's phrases. If your child makes a speech or language error, respond with their phrase in the correct form. This helps them learn proper pronunciation and grammar. For example, if your child says "Doggy big", you can respond with "Yes the dog is big."
