Racial Issues in Criminal Justice Marvin D. Free,2003-09-30 Almost a third of all African American men in their twenties in the United States are in jail or prison or on probation or parole African Americans who comprise approximately 13% of the general population make up about half of the prison population Between 1980 and 2000 38 states added more African American men to their prison systems than were added to their respective systems of higher education However these statistics fail to tell the entire story To understand how the dynamics of disproportionate minority confinement came to exist one must examine the historical and cultural antecedents that affected and continue to affect this group Examining proposed solutions and providing alternative perspectives this volume addresses the overrepresentation of African Americans in the criminal justice system by critically examining the significance of race in American society and criminal justice responses to crime and African Americans Offering a critical examination of the issues this collection begins with a discussion of the marginalization of African Americans in the academic discipline of criminal justice and in the larger society an assessment of the impact of the legacy of slavery on private prisons and mass imprisonment and an empirical examination of the depiction of African Americans in prime time television crime programs Part II looks at racial profiling the underrepresentation of African Americans in hate crime victimization research the impact of race on presentencing the trend toward trying juveniles in adult court and the discriminatory treatment of African Americans in capital eligible cases Finally Part III discusses the impact of African American police officers on the profession analyzes black juror nullification proposes an increase in the presence of African American jurors and assesses the potential ameliorative impact of restorative justice on the current racial imbalance in the criminal justice system

NCJRS Catalog ,2001 Consumer Equality Geraldine Rosa Henderson,Anne-Marie Hakstian,Jerome D. Williams,2016-09-26 This book provides a vivid examination of the issue of consumer inequality in America one of society s most under discussed and critical issues through the evaluation of real life cases the trend of consumers suing companies for discrimination and the application of novel frameworks to establish legitimate consumer equality Everyone regardless of race gender or other appearance based factors should receive equal access and equal treatment in businesses open to the public Unfortunately consumer equality has yet to be achieved In fact marketplace discrimination remains a pervasive problem in the United States in spite of racial inroads on other fronts employment and housing for example Consumer Equality Race and the American Marketplace is the first book to elucidate how consumer discrimination remains an unresolved pressing and complex issue Written by three well established experts on consumer discrimination and business law who have presented their research and opinions to national and local media and as expert witnesses in court cases this book examines the multilayered problem that results in citizens being suspected of committing a crime or detained by police or security personnel because of their ethno racial background This book could be considered required reading for representatives of large corporations small businesses and any organization interested in avoiding charges of marketplace discrimination as well as civil rights groups community organizations and organizations concerned about social justice

Minnesota Statewide Racial Profiling Report ,2003 Human Rights and Non-discrimination in the 'War on Terror' Daniel Moeckli,2008-01-24 In the post September 11th era liberal democracies face the question of whether and if so to what extent they should change the relationship between liberty and security This book explores how three major liberal democratic states the United States the United Kingdom and Germany have approached this challenge by analysing the human rights impacts of their anti terrorism laws and practices The analysis reveals that the most far reaching restrictions of liberty have been imposed on minorities foreign nationals and certain racial ethnic and religious groups This Disparate treatment raises complex issues concerning the human right to non discrimination Differential treatment on the basis of nationality national origin race or religion is only compatible with the right to non discrimination if there are objective and reasonable grounds for it The author evaluates contemporary anti terrorism efforts for their compliance with this requirement Is there in the context of the current war on terror sufficient justification for applying powers of preventive detention or trial by special tribunal only to foreign nationals Are law enforcement methods or immigration policies that single out people for special scrutiny based on their national origin or their ethnic or religious appearance a suitable and proportionate means of countering terrorism The concluding part of the book argues that in the long term discriminatory anti terrorism measures will have impacts beyond their original scope and fundamentally reshape ordinary legal regimes and law enforcement methods
