Rethinking Aids Prevention Learning From Successes In Developing Countries:

Rethinking AIDS Prevention Edward C. Green, 2003-11-30 This is not another book about how AIDS is out of control in Africa and Third World nations or one complaining about the inadequacy of secured funds to fight the pandemic The author looks objectively at countries that have succeeded in reducing HIV infection rates along with a worrisome flip side to the progress The largely medical solutions funded by major donors have had little impact in Africa the continent hardest hit by AIDS Instead relatively simple low cost behavioral change programs stressing increased monogamy and delayed sexual activity for young people have made the greatest headway in fighting or preventing the disease s spread Ugandans pioneered these simple sustainable interventions and achieved significant results As National Review journalist Rod Dreher put it Rather than pay for clinics gadgets and medical procedures especially in the important earlier years of its response to the epidemic Uganda mobilized human resources In a New York Times interview Green cited evidence that partner reduction promoted as mutual faithfulness is the single most effective way of reducing the spread of AIDS That deceptively simple solution is not merely about medical advances or condom use It is about the ABC model Abstain Be faithful and use Condoms if A and B are impossible Yet deeply rooted Western biases have obstructed the effectiveness of AIDS prevention Many Western scientists have attacked the ABC approach as impossible and moralistic Some Western activists and HIV carriers have been outraged thinking the approach passes moral judgment on their behaviors But there is also a troubling suspicion among a growing number of scientists who support the ABC model that certain opponents may simply be AIDS profiteers more interested in protecting their incomes than battling the disease This book is a bellwether in the escalating controversy offering persuasive evidence in support of the ABC approach and exposing the fallacies and motivations of its opponents

The Cape Town Commitment: A Confession of Faith, A Call to Action Darrell L. Bock, 2013-06-14 The Cape Town Commitment which arose from The Third Lausanne Congress on World Evangelization Cape Town 2010 stands in the historic line of The Lausanne Covenant 1974 and The Manila Manifesto 1989 It has been translated into twenty five languages and has commanded wide acceptance around the world The Commitment is set in two parts Part 1 is a Confession of Faith crafted in the language of covenantal love Part 2 is a Call to Action The local church mission agencies special interest groups and Christians in the professions are all urged to find their place in its outworking This annotated bibliography of The Cape Town Commitment arranged by topic has been compiled by specialists in a range of fields As such it is the first bibliography of its kind Arranged in sections for graduate level teaching Equally useful for research students

Successful Societies Peter A. Hall, Michèle Lamont, 2009-08-24 Why are some societies more successful than others at promoting individual and collective well being This book integrates recent research in social epidemiology with broader perspectives in social science to explore why some societies are more successful than others at securing population health It explores the social roots of health inequalities arguing that inequalities in health are based not only on economic inequalities but on the structure of social relations It develops sophisticated perspectives on social relations which emphasize the ways in which cultural frameworks as well as institutions condition people's health It reports on research into health inequalities in the developed and developing worlds covering a wide range of national case studies and into the ways in which social relations condition the effectiveness of public policies aimed at improving health

Infected Kin Ellen Block, Will McGrath, 2019-05-17 AIDS has devastated communities across southern Africa In Lesotho where a quarter of adults are infected the wide ranging implications of the disease have been felt in every family disrupting key aspects of social life In Infected Kin Ellen Block and Will McGrath argue that AIDS is fundamentally a kinship disease examining the ways it transcends infected individuals and seeps into kin relations and networks of care While much AIDS scholarship has turned away from the difficult daily realities of those affected by the disease Infected Kin uses both ethnographic scholarship and creative nonfiction to bring to life the joys and struggles of the Basotho people at the heart of the AIDS pandemic The result is a book accessible to wide readership yet built upon scholarship and theoretical contributions that ensure Infected Kin will remain relevant to anyone interested in anthropology kinship global health and care
