

Make CONNECTIONS

How do readers make connections?

Good readers make connections by using what they already know to connect a text to their life experiences, another text, or the world.

This reminds me of when I...

Text to Self:

Connecting the story to your life & experiences

This reminds me of a book I read...

Text to Text:

Connecting the story to another book

I heard about this on the news when...

Text to World:

Reading Program Connecitons

Karen Kemp

Reading Program Connections:

Connections: Doorways, 1987 Virginia A. Arnold, Carl Bernard Smith, 1987 Connections: Doorways, 8 (2 v.) Virginia A. Arnold, Carl Bernard Smith, 1987 Continued Connections Denise A. Malach, 2002 Abstract Continued Connections was a summer reading program that specifically targeted first grade students who entered second grade in the fall. It differed from conventional summer reading programs in design because the emphasis of this program was a continuation of the guided reading instruction received by those students during the academic year. The intent of this structure was to maintain the connection from academic year reading instruction to extended summer instruction. This extended summer instruction was provided by professional classroom teachers. Undoubtedly another unique element was that the teachers went solely to the students throughout their neighborhood. Building community, reaching the hardest to reach students, and having fun made this literacy program ONE OF A KIND. Connections: Macmillan Reading Program, 1989 MTSS & Reading: The Middle School Connection Karen Kemp, 2018-02-02 Multi-Tier Systems of Support (MTSS) is a proven research-based problem-solving process to help struggling learners succeed. Having been effectively implemented in many elementary schools in recent years, MTSS is gaining popularity as a systematic way to address the needs of underachieving students who are struggling with reading at the middle school level. This reference guide is designed to provide educators with critical information about MTSS as a framework for reading instruction in middle school and give teachers practical techniques to implement within the general education classroom. The Administration and Supervision of Reading Programs Shelley B. Wepner, Joan T. Feeley, Dorothy S. Strickland, 2002. Now in its Third Edition, this popular textbook offers valuable information about administering effective reading programs from the pre-elementary through the college level. All chapters have been revised to include the most current information, trends, and research, and a new chapter has been added on college/university reading programs. Connections, 1987 Doorways Virginia A.
