Knowing Future Time In and Through Greek Historiography Alexandra Lianeri,2016-03-07 From the early modern period Greek historiography has been studied in the context of Cicero s notion historia magistra vitae and considered to exclude conceptions of the future as different from the present and past Comparisons with the Roman Judeo Christian and modern historiography have sought to justify this perspective by drawing on a category of the future as a temporal mode that breaks with the present In this volume distinguished classicists and historians challenge this contention by raising the question of what the future was and meant in antiquity by offering fresh considerations of prognostic and anticipatory voices in Greek historiography from Herodotus to Appian and by tracing the roots of established views on historical time in the opposition between antiquity and modernity They look both at contemporary scholarly argument and the writings of Greek historians in order to explore the relation of time especially the future to an idea of the historical that is formulated in the plural and is always in motion By reflecting on the prognostic of historical time the volume will be of interest not only to classical scholars but to all who are interested in the history and theory of historical time Towards the Future Internet G. Tselentis, J. Domingue, A. R. Waring, 1871 In Praise of Philosophy Alain Badiou, 2025-04-08 What kind of philosophy do we need for the 21st century To answer to this question Alain Badiou imagines a dialogue between Toc ras an earnest and engaging professor and various interlocutors from different countries and philosophical cultures John After from Britain Amantha from Greece B adj Akil from Senegal Xi La Pong from China and several others Their conversation takes readers on a playful journey through the history of philosophy framed by the five great questions that have preoccupied Alain Badiou democracy freedom universality language and being At the same time philosophy is presented not as a system or doctrine but as movement and dialogue The philosopher is not a solitary figure he is inseparable from his pupils his disciples and his adversaries It is only at the end of the journey that he arrives at the written stable forms of his work So we are dealing more with a play than a treatise more with dialogues than monologues more with a course than a book The obvious model is Plato s Socrates who in founding philosophy as a discipline ensured that it could be established anywhere in the world In praise yes of philosophy as the public creation of a thought that inventing itself and transporting itself anywhere speaking to anyone about anything invents the theatricalization of being
