Those Who Know Don't Say Garrett Felber, 2019-11-21 Challenging incarceration and policing was central to the postwar Black Freedom Movement In this bold new political and intellectual history of the Nation of Islam Garrett Felber centers the Nation in the Civil Rights Era and the making of the modern carceral state In doing so he reveals a multifaceted freedom struggle that focused as much on policing and prisons as on school desegregation and voting rights The book examines efforts to build broad based grassroots coalitions among liberals radicals and nationalists to oppose the carceral state and struggle for local Black self determination It captures the ambiguous place of the Nation of Islam specifically and Black nationalist organizing more broadly during an era which has come to be defined by nonviolent resistance desegregation campaigns and racial liberalism By provocatively documenting the interplay between law enforcement and Muslim communities Felber decisively shows how state repression and Muslim organizing laid the groundwork for the modern carceral state and the contemporary prison abolition movement which opposes it Exhaustively researched the book illuminates new sites and forms of political struggle as Muslims prayed under surveillance in prison yards and used courtroom political theater to put the state on trial This history captures familiar figures in new ways Malcolm X the courtroom lawyer and A Philip Randolph the Harlem coalition builder while highlighting the forgotten organizing of rank and file activists in prisons such as Martin Sostre This definitive account is an urgent reminder that Islamophobia state surveillance and police violence have deep roots in the state repression of Black communities during the mid 20th century

Reimagining Faith and Management Edwina Pio, Robert Kilpatrick, Timothy Pratt, 2021-03-23 Much contemporary research ignores or is dismissive of the growth of global religiosity even though 90% of the global population sees the world through a commitment to some kind of faith Reimagining Faith and Management addresses this issue and extends the research on the impact of faith in the various aspects of management such as negotiation leadership entrepreneurship governance innovation ethics finance and careers Faith impacts how individuals and organisations envision manage and respond to their various stakeholders communities the natural environment and the world around them This book presents various facets of how faith values and or ideological outlook which informs influences and adds mystery that inspires and impels individuals and organisations The twenty one chapters are based on academic research and offer practical managerial recommendations The book is divided into three sections Faithful futures impacting individuals Faithful futures impacting organisations and Faithful futures impacting society Each chapter presents a theoretical base and includes practical implications The book is therefore ideal reading for educators researchers and students of business management career studies faith based organisations corporate governance and business ethics as well as religious studies including applied theology
