Signature Pedagogies in Police Education Brett Shipton,2023-09-25 This book provides a range of detailed solutions to issues in police education and training by bringing awareness to pedagogies that can improve the application of theory into police practice and encourage police problem solving skills The chapters dedicated to each of the four signature pedagogies provide an understandable foundation in learning theory and go on to provide specific guidance for design and facilitation Each pedagogy chapter includes contextual examples that apply specific teaching and learning techniques underpinning the pedagogy with a focus on effective facilitation processes informed by learning theories and Shulman's structure of thinking performing and integrity based practice. Importantly, the book will draw together these separate pedagogical approaches to describe how they can be integrated into a broader curriculum framework that allows them to be synergized with each other and more traditional practices to deliver a balanced program that builds a bridge between theory and practice. It is an ideal reference for police educators, police managers, and policing academics involved in academy and field training programs.

Procedural Justice and Legitimacy in Policing Lorraine Mazerolle, Elise Sargeant, Adrian Cherney, Sarah Bennett, Kristina Murphy, Emma Antrobus, Peter Martin, 2014-07-08. This brief focuses on the doing of procedural justice: what the police can do to implement the principles of procedural justice and how their actions can improve citizen perceptions of police legitimacy. Drawing on research from Australia (Mazerolle et al), the UK (Stanko, Bradford, Jackson, et al), the US (Tyler, Reisig, Weisburd, Israel, Jonathon Zamir, et al), Trinidad/Tobago (Kochel, et al), and Ghana (Tankebe), the authors examine the practical ways that the police can approach engagement with citizens across a range of different types of interventions to embrace the principles of procedural justice, including problem-oriented policing, patrol, restorative justice, reassurance policing, and community policing. Through these examples, the authors also examine some of the barriers for implementing procedurally just ways of interacting with citizens and offer practical suggestions for reform. This work will be of interest for researchers in criminology and criminal justice focused on policing, as well as policymakers.

The text is underpinned by reflective activities and case studies, encouraging a critical understanding of psychology applied to policing practice. Fair Treatment of Persons in Police Custody Ralf Alleweldt, 2024-10-16. This book analyses and evaluates the international efforts to ensure the fair and human treatment of persons in police custody. Respecting the dignity of all detained persons and, in particular, preventing torture is a key issue of international human rights protection. The authors explore various approaches to tackle this issue, including the introduction of investigative, non-coercive interviewing techniques, as well as the implementation of fundamental safeguards such as the access to a lawyer and a doctor. Supported by case studies, they describe the special role of national preventive mechanisms and the efforts to improve the treatment of detainees in the context of capacity-building activities. Police components of international peace missions face special legal and practical human rights challenges. Authors also ask how the positive potentials and strengths within police organisations could be mobilised for realising human rights, and last but not least, they seek to assess the prospects of how fair treatment of persons in police custody may be ensured in the future effectively.
