Readings in Input-output Analysis Ira Sohn, 1986 This book brings together for the first time twenty eight articles on input output analysis written by some of the early pioneers of the approach as well some current practitioners of the methodology In so doing it provides a detailed and comprehensive overview of the input output approach both in its methodological foundations and its empirical applications Including both classic and recent contributions to the field this work will serve as an excellent guide to students and professional alike as it traces evolving development of the methodology over the last forty years Among the topics covered are national and regional studies studies on the coefficients matrix and examples of the use of the approach in international trade energy analysis and regional economics Six of the articles are written by Nobel Laureates Kenneth Arrow Gerard Debreu Tjalling Koopmans Paul Samuelson Herbert Simon and Richard Stone

Research Methods in Urban and Regional Planning Xinhao Wang, Rainer Hofe, 2008-09-02 Urban and regional planners develop and evaluate plans for communities the places we live work interact and entertain on a daily basis Their responsibilities require skills of retrieving analyzing and presenting data One of the required courses in all planning programs is planning methods While teaching such a course we feel the need for a text book that provides an up to date introduction to the fundamental methods related to planning and human services delivery In specific this book describes methods used in four areas demographic analysis economic analysis land use analysis and transportation analysis Many people have been helpful and supportive throughout this endeavor Up front are our families who understood and supported us during the period Andrea Yang Rainer s wife and also a planner edited various chapters David Edelman and Wolfgang Preiser provided suggestions for the content of this book and excellent insights and guidance whenever we asked for We are grateful for the release time that David Edelman the School Director gave us on behalf of the entire School of Planning faculty We would like to thank Dr Stefan Rayer Dr Chen Ping Yang and Dr Zhongren Peng who took time from their busy schedule to review various chapters Dr Rayman Mohamed used some preliminary chapters in his planning methods class and gave us valuable feedback Their comments and suggestions significantly improved the book

Trade, Networks and Hierarchies Geoffrey J.D. Hewings, Michael Sonis, David Boyce, 2013-04-18 In 1989 after several years of discussion and negotiation the Regional Economics Applications Laboratory REAL was formed This unique relationship between the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago and the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign has been a significant source of intellectual inspiration for many students visiting colleagues and members of the participating institutions for the past decade The idea for REAL was hatched by Philip Israilevich and Geoffrey Hewings in typical Chicago style in the back room of a local bar In early December 1997 their collaboration came to an untimely end when Philip died after a three year battle with cancer The challenge of moving across a spectrum from theory to model development to implementation and interpretation provided the underlying motivation for REAL s formation together with an equally important component namely the translation of many of these efforts into a form that could be understood and implemented by policy makers For Philip REAL and the Regional Science Association International provided the forums for his intellectual endeavors although he also contributed many papers in banking In recognition of his contributions and to provide a sense of the current research in the fields in which he published many of the authors of these chapters assembled in Chicago in November 1998 to participate in a small seminar in his honor Several others who were not able to come nevertheless contributed chapters to this volume Subsequently all of the papers have been revised and updated

Macroeconomic Policy as Implicit Industrial Policy: Its Industry and Enterprise Effects John Randolph Norsworthy,Diana H. Tsai,2012-12-06 Whether they should or not few economists do in fact refrain from making pronouncements on public policy although the state of the economy both here and elsewhere suggests that either the advice given is bad or if good that it is ignored I happen to think that we are appallingly ignorant about many aspects of the working of the economic system the economics of the firm and industry Ronald H Coase Economists and Public Policy In this volume we attempt to address an element of Coase s concern by linking the empirical economics of the flnn and industry more closely to macroeconomic policies and to demonstrate how to assess some of the effects of those policies The scope of our study ranges from a structural macroeconomic model of the United States from which macroeconomic effects are propagated to detailed structural models of SIC four digit industries The rationale for our approach is very much in the spirit of various integrated macroeconomic industry models constructed by Dale Jorgenson working with various collaborators Our approach is also consistent with and motivated by Lawrence Klein s agenda of modeling explicitly and structurally the macro and sectoral elements in the national economy We also examine the effects of the macroeconomic policies of different countries on the enterprise In only one case our examination of crowding out of private investment by government deficit financing is the linkage among sectors implicit
