Materialized Views Techniques Implementations And Applications:

Materialized Views Ashish Gupta, Inderpal Singh Mumick, 1999 When an application is built an underlying data model is chosen to make that application effective Frequently other applications need the same data only modeled differently The naive solution of copying the underlying data and modeling is costly in terms of storage and makes data maintenance and evolution impossible View mechanisms are a technique to model data differently for various applications without affecting the underlying format and structure of the data The technique enables applications to customize shared data objects without affecting other applications that use the same objects The growing data manipulation needs of companies cannot be met by existing legacy systems that contain valuable data Thus view mechanisms are becoming increasingly important as a way to model and use legacy data in new applications Materialized views are views that have been computed and stored in databases Because they reduce the need to recompute the view and or data being queried they speed up the querying of large amounts of data Further because they provide a systematic way to describe how to recompute the data maintenance and evolution can be automated Materialized views are especially useful in data warehousing query optimization integrity constraint maintenance online analytical processing and applications such as billing banking and retailing This comprehensive volume with a foreword by Jeff Ullman of Stanford University will serve as a reference for students and commercial users and encourage further use and development of materialized views Principles of Distributed Database Systems M. Database Theory and Application

Dominik Slezak, Yanchun Zhang, 2009-11-24 As future generation information technology FGIT becomes specialized and fragmented it is easy to lose sight that many topics in FGIT have common threads and because of this advances in one discipline may be transmitted to others Presentation of recent results obtained in different disciplines encourages this interchange for the advancement of FGIT as a whole Of particular interest are hybrid solutions that combine ideas taken from multiple disciplines in order to achieve something more significant than the sum of the individual parts Through such hybrid philosophy a new principle can be discovered which has the propensity to propagate throughout multifaceted disciplines FGIT 2009 was the first mega conference that attempted to follow the above idea of hybridization in FGIT in a form of multiple events related to particular disciplines of IT conducted by separate scientific committees but coordinated in order to expose the most important contributions It included the following international conferences Advanced Software Engineering and Its Applications ASEA Bio Science and Bio Technology BSBT Control and Automation CA Database Theory and Application DTA Disaster Recovery and Business Continuity DRBC published independently Future Generation Communication and Networking FGCN that was combined with Advanced Communication and Networking ACN Grid and Distributed Computing GDC Multimedia Computer Graphics and Broadcasting MulGraB Security Technology SecTech Signal Processing Image Processing and Pattern Recognition SIP and e Service Science and Technology UNESST
