Pathways To Success In School:

Pathways To Success in School Etta R. Hollins, Eileen I. Oliver, 1999-03 A text for multicultural education and other teacher education courses that is designed to help preservice and inservice teachers identify pathways to productive teaching and learning for students from culturally and experientially diverse backgrounds Six Pathways to Healthy Child Development and Academic Success James P. Comer, Edward T. Joyner, Michael Ben-Avie, 2004-05-12 Ensure that all school decisions are made in the best interest of children and their success with this first ever published field guide promoting child development and learning Educational Equity Christopher Chapman, Mel Ainscow, 2021-07-14 Focusing on what can be done to promote equity within education systems what the barriers to progress are and how these barriers might be overcome this book provides detailed examples of strategies that have proved to be effective in addressing this challenge Built on the work of the authors over the last three decades the book presents an approach to educational change that will be relevant to different countries The authors argue that there is untapped potential for promoting progress towards greater equity within schools and the communities they serve They also show how this potential can be mobilised by using forms of collaborative action research to stimulate the development of more inclusive ways of working Central to this approach is the use of evidence collected by practitioners with the support of university researchers drawing on the human resources that are there in every school Grounded in research evidence and experience in the field this book is ideal reading for a wide audience of practitioners and policy makers globally including senior staff in schools as well as post graduate students researchers and academics who are focusing on educational improvement Initiatives, Students Learning in the Workplace, 1996 Spotlights business partners and students learning in the workplace and progress being attained by secondary schools in the Sangamon Area Vocational Education Region during the 1995 1996 school year Pathways to Success New Jersey. Department of Education. Office of Program Development, Dorothy Soper, 1974 School Reform, Corporate Style Dorothy Shipps, 2006 Like other big city school systems Chicago s has been repeatedly reformed over the last century Yet its schools have fallen far short of citizens expectations and left a gap between the performances of white and minority students Many blame the educational establishment for resisting change Other critics argue that reform occurs too often still others claim it comes not often enough Dorothy Shipps reappraises the tumultuous history of educational progress in Chicago revealing that the persistent lack of improvement is due not to the extent but rather the type of reform Throughout the twentieth century managerial reorganizations initiated by the business community repeatedly altered the governance structure of schools as well as the relationships of teachers to children and parents but brought little improvement while other more promising reform models were either resisted or crowded out Shipps chronicles how Chicago s corporate actors led abetted or restrained nearly every attempt to transform the city s school system then asks whether schools might be better reformed by others To show why city schools have failed urban children so badly she traces Chicago s reform history over four political eras revealing how corporate power was instrumental in designing and revamping the system Her narrative encompasses the formative era of 1880 1930 when teachers unions moderated business plans previously unexplored business activism from 1930 to 1980 when civil rights dominated school reform and the decentralization of the 1980s She also covers the uneasy cooperation among business associations in the 1990s to install the mayor as head of the school system a governing regime now challenged by privatization advocates Business people may be too wedded to a stunted view of educators to forge a productive partnership for change Unionized teachers bridle at the second class status accorded them by managers If reform is to reach deeply into classrooms Shipps concludes it might well require a new coalition of teachers unions and parents to create a fresh agenda that supersedes corporate interests This study clearly shows that in Chicago as elsewhere urban schooling is intertwined with politics and power By reviewing more than a century of corporate efforts to make education work Shipps makes a strong case that it s high time to look elsewhere perhaps to educators themselves for new leadership
