How to Be Successful in Your First Year of Teaching Middle School Mary Ellen Griffith, Anne B. Kocsis, 2011. Middle school, the formative years in which students reach puberty and start the massive life-changing alterations that will determine who they are, is one of the hardest times for any new teacher to start their career. Problem students can become harder to deal with, and those who are not prepared often don't make it through their first year without a little help. This book has been written to help every teacher who is dreading rather than looking forward to that first day in front of their new classes. This heavily researched, detailed book will help first-year middle school teachers learn how to deal with supplies, planning, parents, overcrowded classrooms, the requirements of the No Child Left Behind Act, piles of paperwork, money shortages due to budget cuts, negativity from pubescent students, and other staff members at risk. Students who are capable but choose not to work, and special needs students. You will learn how to ask principals and administrators for help, how to memorize names quickly, how to create seating charts, how to write lesson plans, how to follow a daily routine, how to help struggling readers, how to gain respect, how to get a mentor, how to develop and implement a grading system, how to discipline students who feel they are more mature than they are, how to create assessments, how to find free things for teachers, and how to build your confidence.
