

LITERATURE NOTES

Literature is just about anything written. Literature is a kind of art usually written, which offers pleasure and illumination and there is an oral literature, too.

Literature is divided into 3 major genres or groups. A. Prose, B. Poetry, C. Drama.

A. PROSE: Prose is the ordinary form of written language. Most writing that is not poetry, drama or song is considered prose. Prose occurs in two forms: Fiction and Non-fiction.

1. Fiction: fiction is prose writing that tells about imaginary characters and events. Short stories, novels and folk tales are works of fiction.
2. NON-FICTION: Non-fiction is prose writing that presents and explains idea or that tells about real people, places, objects, or events. Autobiographies, biographies, essays, newspapers, and articles are all types of Non-fiction.

-PLOT AND SETTING

*The plot of a literary work is what happens in it or the plot is the sequence of events in a literary work. In most novels, dramas, short stories, and narrative poems, the plot involves both characters and a central conflict. The plot usually begins with an exposition that introduces the setting, the characters and the basic situation. This is followed by an introduction of the central conflict. The conflict then increases during the rising action until it reaches a high point of interest or suspense, the climax. The climax is followed by the falling action, or end of the central conflict. Any events that occur during the falling action make up the resolution, or denouement.

*Some plots do not have all these parts. Some stories begin with the inciting incident and end with the resolution. In some, the inciting incident has occurred before the opening of the story. The time and place, the 'when and where' of the plot, are called the setting.

Techniques of plot

Exposition: What you need to know. Background information and setting are presented, main characters are introduced, and the conflict is established.

Rising Action: The conflicts and challenges encountered by the characters. How they respond keeps the story moving
