Mapping Policy Preferences from Texts Andrea Volkens, Judith Bara, Ian Budge, Michael D. McDonald, Hans-Dieter Klingemann, 2013-11-28 The Manifesto data are the only comprehensive set of policy indicators for social economic and political research It is thus vital that their quality is established The purpose of this book is to review methodological issues that have got in the way of straightforwardly using the Manifesto data since our two preceding volumes were published and to resolve them in ways which best serve users and textual analysts in general The book is thus generally about text based quantitative analysis with a particular focus on the quality of the CMP MARPOR data and ways of assessing and using them In doing so the book goes beyond normal data documentation essential though that is to confront the analytic issues faced by users of the data now distributed by MARPOR It also provides concrete strategies for tackling these at the research level with examples from the field of political representation The problems of uncertainty error reliability and validity considered here are generic issues for political analysts in any area of research so the book has an interest extending beyond the Manifesto estimates themselves in particular to other textual analyses In addition the book widens the range of applications introduced in our two previous volumes and discusses the extension of the manifesto project database to cover Latin America

Richmond, 2006 Many ceasefires and peace agreements in civil conflict are initially unsuccessful Whilst some give way to renewed and often escalating violence others have become interminably protracted leading to lengthy negotiations in which concessions are rare Given the huge material and human costs of a failed peace process the international community has a strong interest in helping these processes succeed and addressing threats to their implementation This publication focuses on the groups and tactics referred to as spoilers that actively seek to obstruct or undermine conflict settlement through a variety of means including terrorism and violence drawing upon experience from Northern Ireland the Basque region Bosnia Colombia Israel Palestine Cyprus the Caucasus and Kashmir It explores the concept of spoiling and spoiling behaviours from a broad range of interests involved including rebel groups and insurgents diasporas and governments considers how this can be addressed and demonstrates how ill conceived or imposed peace processes can themselves contribute to the problem
