Reforming Urban Land Policies And Institutions In Developing Countries:

Reforming Urban Land Policies and Institutions in Developing Countries Catherine Farvacque, Patrick McAuslan, 1992 This paper attempts to define and assess the various institutional and mechanical elements which constitute a land management system and which have a significant impact on the functioning of land markets The assumption of this report is that the accumulation over time of different institutions and instruments which have reflected different priorities and policies has inhibited the efficient and equitable operation of land markets and that reforms of institutions and policies are now urgently needed Adapt du r sum des auteurs

Framework for Reforming Urban Land Policies in Developing Countries David E. Dowall, Giles Clarke, 1991 A

Framework for Reforming Urban Land Policies in Developing Countries David E. Dowall, Giles Clarke, Urban Management Program, 1996 The purpose of this paper is the challenge much of the conventional wisdom about the indisputable desirability of government intervention into urban land markets and to argue for a reduction in the scope and direction of public policies and actions This paper presents a series of guidelines for policy reform and most of them imply major political decisions and commitments on the part of governments especially clear support for deregulation and privatization Adapt du r sum de l auteur

A Reappraisal of the Urban Planning Process Alexander Clement Mosha, 1995

Handbook of Regional and Urban Economics Peter Nijkamp, E.S. Mills, P.C. Cheshire, 1986 Fifteen essays in this handbook are divided into four parts Part I surveys basic spatial and spatially related research Part II surveys literature on specific urban markets Part III is devoted to studies of urban development and problems in developing countries Part IV contains papers on specific urban problems and sectors

The Challenge of Slums United Nations Human Settlements Programme, 2012-05-23 The Challenge of Slums presents the first global assessment of slums emphasizing their problems and prospects Using a newly formulated operational definition of slums it presents estimates of the number of urban slum dwellers and examines the factors at all level from local to global that underlie the formation of slums as well as their social spatial and economic characteristics and dynamics It goes on to evaluate the principal policy responses to the slum challenge of the last few decades From this assessment the immensity of the challenges that slums pose is clear Almost 1 billion people live in slums the majority in the developing world where over 40 per cent of the urban population are slum dwellers The number is growing and will continue to increase unless there is serious and concerted action by municipal authorities governments civil society and the international community This report points the way forward and identifies the most promising approaches to achieving the United Nations Millennium Declaration targets for improving the lives of slum dwellers by scaling up participatory slum upgrading and poverty reduction programmes The Global Report on Human Settlements is the most authoritative and up to date assessment of conditions and trends in the world s cities Written in clear
