

THERE IS ANOTHER SKY

BY EMILY DICKINSON

There is another sky,
Ever serene and fair,
And there is another sunshine,
Though it be darkness there;
Never mind faded forests, Austin,
Never mind silent fields -
Here is a little forest,
Whose leaf is ever green;
Here is a brighter garden,
Where not a frost has been;
In its unfading flowers
I hear the bright bee hum:
Prithee, my brother,
Into my garden come!

Message Poems To Read The World:

Reading Poetry Tom Furniss, Michael Bath, 2022-04-06 Reading Poetry offers a comprehensive and accessible guide to the art of reading poetry. Discussing more than 200 poems by more than 100 writers ranging from ancient Greece and China to the twenty-first century, the book introduces readers to the skills and the critical and theoretical awareness that enable them to read poetry with enjoyment and insight. This third edition has been significantly updated in response to current developments in poetry and poetic criticism and includes many new examples and exercises, new chapters on world poetry and eco-poetry, and a greater emphasis throughout on American poetry, including the impact traditional Chinese poetry has had on modern American poetry. The seventeen carefully staged chapters constitute a complete apprenticeship in reading poetry, leading readers from specific features of form and figurative language to larger concerns with genre, intertextuality, Caribbean poetry, world poetry, and the role poetry can play in response to the ecological crisis. The workshop exercises at the end of each chapter, together with an extensive glossary of poetic and critical terms and the number and range of poems analysed and discussed (122 of which are quoted in full), make Reading Poetry suitable for individual study or as a comprehensive self-contained textbook for university and college classes.

Roberts, Francis Hovey Stoddard, John Raymond Howard, 1904     Political Prayer in Nineteenth-Century American Literature Amy Dunham Strand, 2024-09-30
Political Prayer in Nineteenth-Century American Literature explores how American women writers such as Catharine Maria Sedgwick, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Rebecca Harding Davis, and Emily Dickinson translated petitioning, a political form for redress of grievances with religious resonance, or what Strand calls political prayer, in their literary works. At a time when petitioning was historically transforming governments, mobilizing masses, and democratizing North America, these White women writers wrote literary petitions to advocate for others in social justice causes such as antiremoval, antislavery, and labor reform to transform American literature and culture and to articulate an ambivalent political agency. Political Prayer in Nineteenth-Century American Literature introduces historic petitioning into literary study as an overlooked but important new lens for reading nineteenth-century fiction and poetry.

Understanding petitions in these literary works and these literary works as petitions also helps us to understand women's political agency before their enfranchisement to explain why scholars have long debated and inconsistently interpreted the works of well anthologized women writers and to see more clearly the multidimensional coexisting and often competing religious and political aspects of their writings
