Rappaccini's Daughter:

Rappaccini's Daughter Nathaniel Hawthorne, 2022-05-17 In Rappaccini's Daughter Nathaniel Hawthorne delves into the realm of science, morality, and the complexities of human emotion. Set in an Italian garden, the tale is steeped in rich symbolism and encapsulates Hawthorne's signature Romantic style, marked by lush descriptions and psychological depth. The story centers around Beatrice, a beautiful yet toxic woman cultivated by her father, the scientist Rappaccini, blurring the line between nature and humanity and raising profound questions about the ethical implications of scientific experimentation. This narrative reflects the broader literary context of the 19th century, particularly the tensions between Enlightenment rationality and Romanticism's emphasis on emotional experience and moral ambiguity. Hawthorne, an influential American novelist and short story writer, was deeply inspired by the transcendent themes of nature versus nurture and the moral dilemmas faced by individuals. His Puritanical ancestry and fascination with the darker aspects of human nature vividly inform his characterizations, profoundly evident in this novella. Hawthorne's own skepticism towards unchecked scientific progress and its consequences for human relationships resonates throughout the work, reflecting societal anxieties of his time. Rappaccini's Daughter is a must-read for anyone intrigued by the intersection of morality, science, and the human condition. Its haunting narrative and morally complex characters challenge readers to confront the implications of their own choices in a rapidly evolving world, making it not only an engaging story but also a poignant reflection on the ethical dimensions of knowledge.

Rappaccini's Daughter Illustrated Nathaniel Hawthorne, 2020-09-20 Rappaccini's Daughter is a short story by Nathaniel Hawthorne, first published in the December 1844 issue of The United States Magazine and Democratic Review and later in the 1846 collection Mosses from an Old Manse. It is about Giacomo Rappaccini, a medical researcher in medieval Padua who grows a garden of poisonous plants. He brings up his daughter to tend the plants, and she becomes resistant to the poisons, but in the process, she herself becomes poisonous to others. The traditional story of a poisonous maiden has been traced back to India, and Hawthorne's version has been adopted in contemporary works.

Plot summary The story is set in Padua, Italy, in a distant and unspecified past. From his quarters, Giovanni Guasconti, a young student of letters at the University of Padua, looks at Beatrice, the beautiful daughter of Dr. Giacomo Rappaccini, a scientist who works in isolation. Beatrice is confined to the lush and locked gardens, which are filled with poisonous plants grown by her father. Giovanni notices Beatrice's strangely intimate relationship with the plants, as well as the withering of fresh flowers and the death of an insect when exposed to her skin or breath. Having fallen in love, Giovanni enters the garden and meets with Beatrice a number of times, while ignoring his mentor Professor Pietro Baglioni, who warns him that Rappaccini is devious and that he and his work should be avoided. Giovanni discovers that Beatrice, having been raised in the presence of poison, is poisonous herself. Beatrice urges Giovanni to look past her poisonous exterior and see her pure and innocent essence, creating great feelings of doubt in Giovanni. He begins to suffer the consequences of his encounters with the plants and with Beatrice when he discovers that he himself has become poisonous after another meeting with Baglioni Giovanni brings a powerful antidote to Beatrice so that they can be together but the antidote kills Beatrice rather than cure her of her poisonous nature

We do not remember to have seen any translated specimens of the productions of M de l Aubepine a fact the less to be wondered at as his very name is unknown to many of his own countrymen as well as to the student of foreign literature As a writer he seems to occupy an unfortunate position between the Transcendentalists who under one name or another have their share in all the current literature of the world and the great body of pen and ink men who address the intellect and sympathies of the multitude If not too refined at all events too remote too shadowy and unsubstantial in his modes of development to suit the taste of the latter class and yet too popular to satisfy the spiritual or metaphysical requisitions of the former he must necessarily find himself without an audience except here and there an individual or possibly an isolated clique His writings to do them justice are not altogether destitute of fancy and originality they might have won him greater reputation but for an inveterate love of allegory which is apt to invest his plots and characters with the aspect of scenery and people in the clouds and to steal away the human warmth out of his conceptions His fictions are sometimes historical sometimes of the present day and sometimes so far as can be discovered have little or no reference either to time or space In any case he generally contents himself with a very slight embroidery of outward manners the faintest possible counterfeit of real life and endeavors to create an interest by some less obvious peculiarity of the subject Occasionally a breath of Nature a raindrop of pathos and tenderness or a gleam of humor will find its way into the midst of his fantastic imagery and make us feel as if after all we were yet within the limits of our native earth We will only add to this very cursory notice that M de l Aubepine s productions if the reader chance to take them in precisely the proper point of view may amuse a leisure hour as well as those of a brighter man if otherwise they can hardly fail to look excessively like nonsense Our author is voluminous he continues to write and publish with as much praiseworthy and indefatigable prolixity as if his efforts were crowned with the brilliant success that so justly attends those of Eugene Sue His first appearance was by a collection of stories in a long series of volumes entitled Contes deux fois racontes The titles of some of his more recent works we quote from memory are as follows Le Voyage Celeste a Chemin de Fer 3 tom 1838 Le nouveau Pere Adam et la nouvelle Mere Eve 2 tom 1839 Roderic ou le Serpent a l estomac 2 tom 1840 Le Culte du Feu a folio volume of ponderous research into the religion and ritual of the old Persian Ghebers published in 1841 La Soiree du Chateau en Espagne 1 tom 8vo 1842 and L Artiste du Beau ou le Papillon Mecanique 5 tom 4to 1843 Our somewhat wearisome perusal of this startling catalogue of volumes has left behind it a certain personal affection and sympathy though by no means admiration for M de l Aubepine and we would fain do the little in our power towards introducing him favorably to the American public The ensuing tale is a translation of his Beatrice ou la Belle Empoisonneuse recently published in La Revue Anti Aristocratique This journal edited by the Comte de Bearhaven has for some years past led the defence of liberal principles and popular rights with a faithfulness and ability worthy of all praise
