

Little Boy's Lineage

As each bomb was completed, workers stenciled on a production number. To minimize risk of an accident at takeoff from Truett, Little Boy L-11 was armed aboard Enola Gay in flight.

Fat Man's P-words

The Fat Man team signed their work, "JANCFU" stood for—politely—"Joint Army Navy Civilian Fuel Up." On their bomb, Little Boy handlers added, "Greetings to the Emperor from the men of the Indianapolis."

A Case of U-238

Both bombs' steel casings were assembled from components whose fabrication was divided among three factories to keep the design secret. Each bomb's detonator style called for a differently shaped shell—hence the long Little Boy and the round Fat Man.

Fins for Falling

Tail fins stabilized the bombs in descent. Expert Tool and Die Co. in Detroit, Michigan built the casings and mounting brackets.

No Direction Home

UHF antennas led crews back bombs as they fell.

Armed and Dangerous

The red knobs are arming plugs. The Naval Gun Factory in Washington, DC, cast Little Boy's gun and breech.

The Day the Grid Went Down David J. Nicks, 2013-02 The Day the Grid Went Down is a compelling novel about what could happen to the world should a truly catastrophic economic collapse occur The book is largely based on the true life experiences of author David J Nicks and other real world events such as the partial economic collapse of 2008 Using the 2012 elections as a point of departure The Day the Grid Went Down spins off into a cautionary tale of fiction that draws persuasive parallels between where we might currently be heading and prophecies from the Bible Fact and fiction interweave throughout the book as Nicks juxtaposes his own story with an imagined but very feasible scenario involving a total economic collapse and the worldwide chaos that would likely ensue as a result Author David J Nicks is a South Carolina native who works as an insulator specializing in nuclear plants and fire protection systems Although he has written other books in the past The Day the Grid Went Down is the first that he s had published It was inspired by current events that in the author s opinion present the very real possibility of an impending economic collapse Publisher s website <http://sbpra.com> DavidJNicks
