Rapanui A Descriptive Grammar:

Rapanui Veronica du Feu,2012-11-12 Rapanui the language of Easter Island is in danger of extinction A Polynesian language closely related to Maori it is spoken by less than 2000 people This description based on recordings made in the 1980s and on information provided by the islanders represents Veronica De Feu s determination to record the language before it dies out All linguistic aspects are covered the syntax morphology phonology and lexicon of the language Just as importantly it has been structured in such a way as to facilitate cross language comparisons There are over 800 illustrative sentences each accompanied by interlinear grammatical analysis and translation It also contains a Rapanui folk tale in both the original and English This descriptive grammar provides a new look at the whole structure of Rapanui As a source of vocabulary it goes beyond any previously available dictionaries Words Out of Wood M. de Laat,2009 Two dozen or so wooden tablets discovered on Easter Island late in the nineteenth century are all that remain of rongorongo a series of glyphs thought to be the writing system of the island s lost people In Words Out of Wood M de Laat explores the construction and use of these enigmatic figures and makes a compelling case that rongorongo despite its resistance to decipherment constitutes nothing less than a fully developed script Reproduced here in clear full page illustrations the glyphs stand alongside the great moai statues as lasting monuments of the inventiveness and artistry of the remote Pacific island

Pacific and its historians The World Atlas of Language Structures Martin Haspelmath, 2005-07-21 The World Atlas of Language Structures is a book and CD combination displaying the structural properties of the world's languages. 142 world maps and numerous regional maps all in colour display the geographical distribution of features of pronunciation and grammar such as number of vowels, tone systems, gender, plurals, tense, word order, and body part terminology. Each world map shows an average of 400 languages and is accompanied by a fully referenced description of the structural feature in question. The CD provides an interactive electronic version of the database which allows the reader to zoom in on or customize the maps to display bibliographical sources and to establish correlations between features. The book and the CD together provide an indispensable source of information for linguists and others seeking to understand human languages. The Atlas will be especially valuable for linguistic typologists, grammatical theorists, historical and comparative linguists, and for those studying a region such as Africa, Southeast Asia, North America, Australia, and Europe. It will also interest anthropologists and geographers. More than fifty authors from many different countries have collaborated to produce a work that sets new standards in comparative linguistics. No institution involved in language research can afford to be without it.

A Grammar of Rapa Nui Paulus Kieviet, This book is a comprehensive description of the grammar of Rapa Nui, the Polynesian language spoken on Easter Island. After an introductory chapter, the grammar deals with phonology, word classes, the noun phrase, possession, the verb phrase, verbal and nonverbal clauses, mood and negation, and clause combinations. The phonology of Rapa Nui reveals certain issues of typological interest, such as the existence of strict conditions on the phonological shape of words, word-final devoicing, and reduplication patterns motivated by metrical constraints. For Polynesian languages, the distinction between nouns and verbs in the lexicon has often been denied; in this grammar, it is argued that this distinction is needed for Rapa Nui. Rapa Nui has sometimes been characterised as an ergative language; this grammar shows that it is unambiguously accusative. Subject and object marking depend on an interplay of syntactic, semantic, and pragmatic factors. Other distinctive features of the language include the existence of a neutral aspect marker, a serial verb construction, the emergence of copula verbs, a possessive relative construction, and a tendency to maximise the use of the nominal domain. Rapa Nui's relationship to the other Polynesian languages is a recurring theme in this grammar; the relationship to Tahitian, which has profoundly influenced Rapa Nui, especially deserves attention. The grammar is supplemented with a number of interlinear texts, two maps, and a subject index.

Language and Political Subjectivity Miki Makihara, Juan L. Rodríguez, 2025-07-01 Politics and power are understood as interconnected yet opposed forms of agency that do not exist without each other and depend on transgressions and the upholding of social boundaries. Language and Political Subjectivity is an ethnographic and historical piece of research that considers how Indigenous and diasporic communities with their political subjectivities expand over significant sociohistorical changes, debates, and struggles in the transformation of Chilean democracy and Venezuela's Bolivarian Revolution. It offers an innovative approach to stancemaking.
