What connects the Romantic essays of Thomas De Quincey and the violent cinema of Brian De Palma Or the beautiful suicides of Hedda Gabler and Yukio Mishima Or the shootings of John Lennon and Ronald Reagan In The Aesthetics of Murder Joel Black explores the sometimes gruesome interplay between life and art between actual violence and images of violence in a variety of literary texts paintings and films Rather than exclude murder from critical consideration by dismissing it as a crime Black urges us to ponder the killer s artistic role and our own experience as audience witness or voyeur Black examines murder as a recurring obsessive theme in the Romantic tradition approaching the subject from an aesthetic rather than a moral psychological or philosophical perspective And he brings into his discussion contemporary instances of sensational murders and assassinations treating these as mimetic or cathartic activities in their own right Combining historical documentation with theoretical insights Black shows that the possibilities of representing violence and of experiencing it as art were recognized early in the nineteenth century as logical extensions of Romantic theories of the sublime Since then both traditional art forms and the modern mass media have contributed to the growing aestheticization of daily experience
