Pottery Workshop Charles Counts, 1973 Pottery in the Archaeological Record Mark L. Lawall, John Lund, 2011-04-20

Archaeologists are increasingly focusing on the transformation of artifacts from their use in the past to their appearance in the archaeological record trying to identify the natural and cultural processes that created the archaeological record we study today. In Classical Archaeology attention to these processes received an impetus by J Theodore Pena's 2007 monograph Roman Pottery in the Archaeological Record which considered how ceramic vessels were made, used, and stayed in use serving various secondary purposes before finally being discarded. Pena relied mainly on evidence from Roman Italy which raises the question of the impact of similar cultural forces on pottery from other periods and places. His work accentuates the need to continue the process of building and developing explicit interpretive models of ceramic life histories in Mediterranean archaeology. With a view to beginning to address these challenges the editors invited a group of specialists in the pottery of Greece and the rest of the Eastern Mediterranean to a colloquium in Athens in June 2008 asking the contributors to reconsider Pena's general models, approaches, and examples from their own particular geographic and cultural perspectives. This publication constitutes the proceedings of this colloquium. Innovative Approaches and Explorations in Ceramic Studies Sandra L. López Varela, 2017-12-31 This book celebrates thirty years of Ceramic Ecology an international symposium initiated at the 1986 American Anthropological Association. Contributions explore the application of instrumental techniques and experimental studies to analyze ceramics and follow innovative approaches to evaluate methods and theories. The Hippodrome of Gerasa Antoni A. Ostrasz†, 2020-04-23 This book presents the study of Roman circuses and the complex fieldwork for the restoration of the Jarash Hippodrome a work in progress abruptly ended by the untimely death of Antoni A Ostrasz in 1996. It aims to provide researchers as well as restorers of ancient monuments with unparalleled insights of architectural studies for anastyloses. Approaches to the Analysis of Production Activity at Archaeological Sites Anna K. Hodgkinson, Cecilie Lelek Tvetmarken, 2020-03-05 Proceedings of a workshop held in Berlin 2018 focusing on manufacturing activities identified at archaeological sites. New excavation techniques, ethnographic research, archaeometric approaches, GIS, experimental archaeology and theoretical issues associated with how researchers understand production in the past are presented here. China's Porcelain Capital Maris Boyd Gillette, 2016-08-11 Maris Boyd Gillette's groundbreaking study tells the story of Jingdezhen, China's porcelain capital, from its origins in 1004 in Song dynasty China to the present day. Gillette explores how Jingdezhen has been affected by state involvement in porcelain production, particularly during the long 20th century. She considers how the Chinese government has consumed, invested in, taxed, and managed the local ceramics industry and the effects of this state intervention on ceramists' lives, their local environment, and the nature of the goods they produce. Gillette traces how Jingdezhen experienced the transition from imperial rule to state ownership under communism, the changing fortunes of the ceramics industry in the early 21st century, the decay and decline that accompanied privatisation and a revival brought about by an entrepreneurial culture focusing on the manufacture of highly prized art porcelain Bauhaus, 1919-1933 Magdalena Droste,2002 Seventy years after its foundation in Weimar the Bauhaus has become a concept indeed a catchphrase all over the world The respect which it commands is associated above all with the design it pioneered one which we know describe as Bauhaus style This volume traces the history of Bauhaus
