Staff, 2004 Seventh IEEE International Workshop on Policies for Distributed Systems and Networks , 2006 The Policy workshop attracts a relatively small and select group of researchers who have an interest in exploring computer interfaces that can be adapted to different users and to different environments A policy based system deals with an interface to a system that constrains or determines its behavior based on an input specification the policy Policy is perhaps more about interaction rather than about computation One of the guiding principles of information science is the optimization of data presentation through the hiding of detail Policy is every bit as important as other forms of user interface design This year s contributions try to answer the questions raised How is a computer program different from a policy The papers in POLICY 2006 illustrate a spectrum of interest and enthusiasm about policy There is enthusiasm for the concept of a policy and for the representation of policy through language There are still many unanswered questions as well as new application areas to be found Even the definition of policy is not yet an agreed on quantity Eighth IEEE International Workshop on Policies for Distributed Systems and Networks (POLICY'07), Bologna, Italy, 13.06-15.06.2007 , 20?? Policy 2007 , 2007 2012 IEEE International Symposium on Policies for Distributed Systems and Networks , 2012 Network Control and Engineering for QoS, Security and Mobility Dominique Gaïti, Nadia Boukhatem, 2013-04-17 Service and network providers must be able to satisfy the demands for new services improve the quality of service reduce the cost of network service operations and maintenance control performance and adapt to user demands It is essential to investigate different approaches for performing such tasks One of these approaches is based on policies and the capability of the network to adapt itself to current conditions With a focus on policy based networking this volume addresses the problem of network control and the introduction of policies such as the control of the Quality of Service security mobility performance mobile and intelligent agents and traffic engineering The area of control in networks through policies promises to provide stimulating challenges for years to come This book is an attempt to answer questions and provide some direction about the best approaches to be followed This volume contains the proceedings of the first International Conference on NETWORK CONTROL and Engineering NETCON for Quality of Service Security and Mobility which was sponsored by the International Federation for Information Processing IFIP and organized by IFIP TC6 Working Group 6.7 Smart Networks The conference convened in Paris France in October 2002

Integrated Network Management VIII Germán Goldszmidt, Schönwälder Jürgen, 2013-06-05 Welcome to 1M 2003 the eighth in a series of the premier international technical conference in this field As IT management has become mission critical to the economies of the developed world our technical program has grown in relevance strength and quality Over the next few years leading IT organizations will gradually move from identifying infrastructure problems to providing business services via automated intelligent management systems To be successful these future management systems must provide global scalability for instance to support Grid computing and large numbers of pervasive devices In Grid environments organizations can pool desktops and servers dynamically creating a virtual environment with huge processing power and new management challenges As the number type and criticality of devices connected to the Internet grows new innovative solutions are required to address this unprecedented scale and management complexity The growing penetration of technologies such as WLANs introduces new management challenges particularly for performance and security Management systems must also support the management of business processes and their supporting technology infrastructure as integrated entities They will need to significantly reduce the amount of adventitious bootless data thrown at consoles delivering instead a cogent view of the system state while leaving the handling of lower level events to self managed multifarious systems and devices There is a new emphasis on autonomic computing building systems that can perform routine tasks without administrator intervention and take prescient actions to rapidly recover from potential software or hardware failures Handbook of Network and System Administration Jan Bergstra, Mark Burgess, 2011-08-11 System administration is about the design running and maintenance of human computer systems Examples of human computer systems include business enterprises service institutions and any extensive machinery that is operated by or interacts with human beings System administration is often thought of as the technological side of a system the architecture construction and optimization of the collaborating parts but it also occasionally touches on softer factors such as user assistance help desks ethical considerations in deploying a system and the larger implications of its design for others who come into contact with it This book summarizes the state of research and practice in this emerging field of network and system administration in an anthology of chapters written by the top academics in the field The authors include members of the IST EMANICS Network of Excellence in Network Management This book will be a valuable reference work for researchers and senior system managers wanting to understand the essentials of system administration whether in practical application of a data center or in the design of new systems and data centers Covers data center planning and design Discusses configuration management Illustrates business modeling and system administration Provides the latest theoretical developments 2008 IEEE International Workshop on Policies for Distributed Systems and Networks ,2008 POLICY 2012 ,2012 Eighth IEEE International Workshop on Policies for Distributed Systems and Networks ,2007
