Recurring Silent Spring:

The Recurring Silent Spring H. Patricia Hynes, 1989 So Glorious a Landscape Chris J. Magoc, 2002 An anthology of period documents that illustrate important facets of Americans changing relationship with nature The Environmental Imagination Lawrence Buell, 1996-09-01 With Thoreau's Walden as a touchstone Buell offers an account of environmental perception the place of nature in the history of Western thought and the consequences for literary scholarship of attempting to imagine a more ecocentric way of being In doing so he provides a profound rethinking of our literary and cultural reflections on nature Women Who Invented the Sixties Steve Golin, 2022-09-20 While there were many protests in the 1950s against racial segregation economic inequality urban renewal McCarthyism and the nuclear buildup the movements that took off in the early 1960s were qualitatively different They were sustained not momentary they were national not just local they changed public opinion rather than being ignored Women Who Invented the Sixties tells the story of how four women helped define the 1960s and made a lasting impression for decades to follow In 1960 Ella Baker played the key role in the founding of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee which became an essential organization for students during the civil rights movement and the model for the antiwar and women's movements In 1961 Jane Jacobs published The Death and Life of Great American Cities changing the shape of urban planning irrevocably In 1962 Rachel Carson published Silent Spring creating the modern environmental movement And in 1963 Betty Friedan wrote The Feminine Mystique which sparked second wave feminism and created lasting changes for women Their four separate interventions helped together to end the 1950s and invent the 1960s Women Who Invented the Sixties situates each of these four women in the 1950s Baker's early activism with the NAACP and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference Jacobs's work with Architectural Forum and her growing involvement in neighborhood protest Carson's conservation efforts and publications and Friedan's work as a labor journalist and the discrimination she faced before exploring their contributions to the 1960s and the movements they each helped shape Reader's Guide to American History Peter J. Parish, 1997 First Published in 1998 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Pesticides, A Love Story Michelle Mart, 2018-01-26 Presto No More Pests proclaimed a 1955 article introducing two new pesticides miracle workers for the housewife and back yard farmer Easy to use effective and safe who wouldn't love synthetic pesticides Apparently most Americans did and apparently still do Why in the face of dire warnings rising expense and declining effectiveness do we cling to our chemicals Michelle Mart wondered Her book a cultural history of pesticide use in postwar America offers an answer America's embrace of synthetic pesticides began when they burst on the scene during World War II and has held steady into the 21st century for example more than 90% of soybeans grown in the US in 2008 are Roundup Ready GMOs dependent upon generous use of the herbicide glyphosate to control weeds Mart investigates the attraction of pesticides with their up to the minute promise of modernity sophisticated technology and increased productivity in short their appeal to human dreams of controlling nature She also considers how they reinforced Cold War assumptions of Western economic and material superiority Though the publication of Rachel Carson's Silent Spring and the rise of environmentalism might have marked a turning point in Americans' faith in pesticides statistics tell a different story Pesticides a Love Story recounts the campaign against DDT that famously ensued but the book also shows where our notions of Silent Spring's revolutionary impact falter where in spite of a ban on DDT farm use of pesticides in the United States more than doubled in the thirty years after the book was published As a cultural survey of popular and political attitudes toward pesticides Pesticides a Love Story tries to make sense of this seeming paradox At heart it is an exploration of the story we tell ourselves about the costs and benefits of pesticides and how corporations government officials ordinary citizens and the press shape that story to reflect our ideals interests and emotions Woman of Power, 1989 The Alchemy of Illness Kat Duff, 1993 Illness is a universal experience There is no privilege that can make us immune to its touch We are taught to assume health illnesses being just temporary breakdowns in the well oiled machinery of the body But illness has its own geography its own laws and commandments At a time when the attention of the whole nation is focused on health care Kat Duff inquires into the nature and function of illness itself Duff a counselor in private practice in Taos New Mexico wrote this book out of her experience with chronic fatigue syndrome but what she has to say is applicable to every illness and every one of us For those who are sick this book offers solace and recognition For those who care for them either physically or emotionally it offers inspiration and compassion Finally this fresh perspective on healing reveals how every illness is a crucible that tries our mettle tests our limits and provides us with an unparalleled opportunity to integrate its lessons into our lives Seeing Nature Through Gender Virginia Scharff, 2003 Environmental history has traditionally told the story of Man and Nature Scholars have too frequently overlooked the ways in which their predominantly male subjects have themselves been shaped by gender Seeing Nature through Gender here reintroduces gender as a meaningful category of analysis for environmental history showing how women's actions desires and choices have shaped the world and seeing men as gendered actors as well In thirteen essays that show how gendered ideas have shaped the ways in which people have represented experienced and consumed their world Virginia Scharff and her coauthors explore interactions between gender and environment in history Ranging from colonial borderlands to transnational boundaries from mountaintop to marketplace they focus on historical representations of humans and nature on questions about consumption on environmental politics and on the complex reciprocal relations among human bodies and changing landscapes They also challenge the ecofeminist position by challenging the notion that men and women are essentially different creatures with biologically different destinies Each article shows how a person or group of people in history have understood nature in gendered terms and acted accordingly often with dire consequences for other people and organisms Here are considerations of the ways we study sexuality among birds of William Byrd's masking sexual encounters in his account of an eighteenth century expedition of how the ecology of fire in a changing built environment has reshaped firefighters own gendered identities Some are playful as in a piece on the evolution of snow bunnies to shred betties Others are dead serious as in a chilling portrait of how endocrine disrupters are reinventing humans animals and water systems from the cellular level out Aiding and adding significantly to the enterprise of environmental history Seeing Nature through Gender bridges gender history and environmental history in unexpected ways to show us how the natural world can remake the gendered patterns we ve engraved on ourselves and on the planet

Spirituality and the Secular Quest Peter Higbie Van Ness,1996 Eminent scholars shed light on the beliefs and practices of large numbers of people who describe themselves as spiritual even though they acknowledge no strong bond of doctrine or community with any historical religion Topics covered include feminism environmentalism gay liberation 12 step programs therapy mountain climbing chiropractic painting nature study playing computer games

The Environmental Ethics and Policy Book Donald VanDeVeer,Christine Pierce,1994 This text is designed for students who wish to explore in depth questions about how on earth we ought to live e g how we can behave responsibly toward nonhumans and toward the planet Although primarily oriented toward questions of ethics broadly understood and approached philosophically the volume crosses disciplinary boundaries and attends seriously to economic reasoning and its implications for environmental policy issues It seeks to extract for critical attention the relevant moral or normative presuppositions which lie behind policy recommendations whether they are ones made by biologists ecologists economists phiolsophers engineers public officials or anyone concerned with policy decisions

Twentieth-century American Nature Writers Roger Thompson,J. Scott Bryson,2003 Essays on distinctly American nature writers from the earliest to the most recent that have consistently sought to convey both their wonder at the natural world and their individual personal experiences within it

Coyote at Large Katrina Schimmoeller Peiffer,2000 The trickster coyote of Native American mythology appears in playful interludes roaming at large through the prose and poetry of Simon Ortiz Ursula Le Guin Sally Carrighar and Gary Snyder providing a recurring analog for how comedy and humor show themselves in traditional and contemporary American nature writing
