Love In Hazard:

Love in Hazard Jean Marsh, 1989-01-01      Impact of Hazardous Waste on Human Health Barry L. Johnson, 1999-06 This book describes the association between hazardous waste and human health and the role of public health programs in addressing this association Several themes connect the material as a coherent body of knowledge It contains up to date depictions of the human health impacts of hazardous waste and attendant public health responses It defines the term public health and its role at local and national levels      Henry Adams James P. Young, 2001 In this revisionist study Young denies that Adams was a reactionary critic of democracy and instead contends that he was an idealistic though often disappointed advocate of representative government Young focuses on Adams's belief that capitalist industrial development during the Gilded Age had debased American ideals and then turns to a careful study of Adams's famous contrast of the unity of medieval society with the fragmentation of modern technological society BOOK JACKET      The hazard of concealing; or, All in a man's keeping Meg Dyan, 1896      Male Authors, Female Subjects Duco Van Oostrum, 1995 In the wake of feminist and poststructuralist contributions to literary study how can we read images of women in literature written by men Is it possible to read anything other than appropriation or misrepresentation in these male portraits of women Starting with these questions Van Oostrum looks for openings in a debate that seems to be firmly locked into traditional gender roles While contemporary literary theory works hard to dismantle oppressive binaries questions about the representation of an other often lead back to a dizzying number of rigid identities Through an examination of Henry Adams's and Henry James's attempts to write about American women Van Oostrum tries to have it both ways at once holding on to gendered cultural identity and at the same time challenging a stable personality Using the sentimental fiction written by women in the 1850s James and Adams write about the new women of the turn of the 20th century Traversing multiple oceans they increasingly entangle concepts of gender and nationality othering not only women but the culture of Europe and the South Seas as well An analogous movement of a male translation of female American sentimental fiction intersected with national identities the author argues takes place in two Dutch novels of the late 19th century By looking through a Dutch lens at American literature this book on possible gender crossings shows cultural identities always to be on the move Crossing from the male author to the female subject on such an international landscape the author tries to navigate a place for women within and beyond literature written by men      *The Works of William Shakespeare: Much ado about nothing.
