gateway to emotional response The book was written for professionals who care about how people feel in the spaces they design and focuses on the humanization of architecture Taking a non stylistic approach to design Michel analyzes architecture from the perspective of how the users see their surroundings as they move through space The reader will learn what pleases and what disturbs people based on how the human visual system responds to color texture pattern and brightness The book features principles of design for the student and professional and is generously supported by illustrations and research Michel also provides a method for evaluating the visual effectiveness of building materials and lighting systems including those that will appear on the market long after this book is dog eared Michel unveils a groundbreaking luminance brightness rating system LBR and a nine zone brightness scale to aid designers in previsualizing the appearance of surfacing materials at every stage of the design process from schematics to development to refinement Among the topics treated are the interaction of lighting and spatial design color theory for space and light the luminance relationships between free standing objects and the surrounding spatial boundaries against which they are seen the appearance of building materials in color and brightness when modified by light and spatial location lighting spatial connections including the perception of rooms adjacent to the observer lighting and perception of spaces screened by architectural grilles creating lighted space Designing with the effects of light is both an art and a science No other book on the market bridges that gap as successfully as Light The Shape of Space Journal Asiatic Society (Kolkata, India),1889
