The New Nature of Maps J. B. Harley, 2002-10-03 In these essays the author draws on ideas in art history literature philosophy and the study of visual culture to subvert the traditional positivist model of cartography and replace it with one grounded in an iconological and semiotic theory of the nature of maps Participatory Mapping Jean-Christophe Plantin, 2014-07-09 This book is intended for applications of online digital mapping called mashups or composite application and to analyze the mapping practices in online socio technical controversies The hypothesis put forward is that the ability to create an online map accompanies the formation of online audience and provides support for a position in a debate on the Web The first part provides a study of the map a combination of map and statistical reason crosses between map theories and CIS theories recent developments in scanning the map from Geographic Information Systems GIS to Web map The second part is based on a corpus of twenty mashup maps and offers a techno semiotic analysis highlighting the thickness of the mediation they are in a process of communication on the Web Map as a device to make do is thus replaced through these stages of creation ranging from digital data in their viewing before describing the construction of the map as a tool for visual evidence in public debates and ending with an analysis of the delegation action against Internet users The third section provides an analysis of these mapping practices in the case study of the controversy over nuclear radiation following the accident at the Fukushima plant on March 11 2011 Techno semiotic method applied to this corpus of radiation map is supplemented by an analysis of web graphs derived from digital methods and graph theory accompanying the analysis of the previous steps maps creating Geiger data or retrieving files online but also their movement once maps are made A History of the World in 12 Maps Jerry Brotton, 2013-11-14 A New York Times Bestseller Maps allow the armchair traveler to roam the world the diplomat to argue his points the ruler to administer his country the warrior to plan his campaigns and the propagandist to boost his cause rich and beautiful Wall Street Journal Throughout history maps have been fundamental in shaping our view of the world and our place in it But far from being purely scientific objects maps of the world are unavoidably ideological and subjective intimately bound up with the systems of power and authority of particular times and places Mapmakers do not simply represent the world they construct it out of the ideas of their age In this scintillating book Jerry Brotton examines the significance of 12 maps from the almost mystical representations of ancient history to the satellite derived imagery of today He vividly recreates the environments and circumstances in which each of the maps was made showing how each conveys a highly individual view of the world Brotton shows how each of his maps both influenced and reflected contemporary events and how by considering it in all its nuances and omissions we can better understand the world that produced it Although the way we map our surroundings is more precise than ever before Brotton argues that maps today are no more definitive or objective than they have ever been Readers of this beautifully illustrated and masterfully argued book will never look at a map in quite the same way again A fascinating and panoramic new history of the cartographer's art
