Cultures of Prediction in Atmospheric and Climate Science Matthias Heymann, Gabriele Gramelsberger, Martin Mahony, 2017-06-26

In recent decades science has experienced a revolutionary shift. The development and extensive application of computer modelling and simulation has transformed the knowledge making practices of scientific fields as diverse as astro physics, genetics, robotics and demography. This epistemic transformation has brought with it a simultaneous heightening of political relevance and a renewal of international policy agendas raising crucial questions about the nature and application of simulation knowledges throughout public policy. Through a diverse range of case studies spanning over a century of theoretical and practical developments in the atmospheric and environmental sciences, this book argues that computer modelling and simulation have substantially changed scientific and cultural practices and shaped the emergence of novel cultures of prediction. Making an innovative interdisciplinary contribution to understanding the impact of computer modelling on research practice, institutional configurations and broader cultures, this volume will be essential reading for anyone interested in the past, present and future of climate change and the environmental sciences.

Sociolinguistics: Interactional sociolinguistics Nikolas Coupland, Adam Jaworski, 2009

This title is a new collection in Routledge's Critical Concepts in Linguistics series. In six volumes, it provides a critical synthesis of the key ideas, findings, methods and approaches that make up the interdisciplinary field of sociolinguistics. It includes both classic texts and contemporary state-of-the-art research with a bias towards the latter. The editors aver that the collection will stand as an articulation of the New Sociolinguistics as it is emerging through a sustained reflexive reassessment of the field which is now ongoing, set against a core of classic texts.

The storage, retrieval and dissemination of the non-structured information found in text, image and sound is the subject of this proceedings. This field is developing rapidly as the entire information technology industry is a convergence of computing, telecommunications and multimedia techniques. Conditions are continually improving, enabling the needs of users for extensive and convivial access to information to be satisfied. The contributions to this volume encompass on one hand recent scientific research and on the other demonstrations of prototypes resulting from recent research as well as the most
